President Assails Pending Controls

Johnston Says Law Could Mean Increase of of Dollar a Day per Family; Truman Asks for Stronger Measure

Washington, July 5 (AP)—The Truman administration today hit at the economics controls law pending in Congress as likely to mean $1-a-day increase in living costs for every American family.

Eric Johnston, economic stabilization director, made that estimate of it, and said President Truman has agreed that all elements of the administration should engage in a campaign of speeches, statements and appeals to inform the public on the hazards of inflation.

Johnston added to a news conference:

"We don't want an economic Pearl Harbor or a Dunkerque. And we don't want a Munich of appeasement."

Johnston had just come from a conference with President Truman.

While Johnston was meeting with reporters at the stabilization agency, Mr. Truman was holding his usual Thursday news conference.

The President also plugged for stronger economic controls, as he has been doing for weeks, but he used much milder language than Johnston did.

Asks Workable Bill

Mr. Truman said he hopes the House, beginning debate today on controls legislation, will come up with a workable bill. He has been sharply critical of the bill the Senate has passed. It would restrict — and possibly prevent — price rollbacks.

Johnston, without directly asking housewives to write their congressmen, said he was sure that "if the voters have convictions in this matter, they will communicate with their representatives in Congress."

"This is not a political issue," he insisted, and added:

"I am not blaming any member of Congress. In general they vote their convictions.

"If there is any blame to be fixed, it sould be fixed on us. We —me and the ESA — haven't brought home to the people the dangers ahead."

Johnston said an "education" drive is planned aimed at consumers, business, labor and Congress. He said it would have full White House support.

It will be "disastrous," Johnston declared, unless Congress gives the administration the power to roll back prices.

Mr. Truman said nothing about an "education" campaign at his meeting with reporters, but he told them he would keep putting forward every effort to get a strong controls bill. He said he did not plan any further formal messages to Congress on the subject.

Dusing, McAndrew And Harder Named By Area Democrats

Ulster, City Conventions Held at Court House; No Coroner Is Selected

Frederick Dusing of New Paltz, prominent in labor circles, was named Democratic candidate for county clerk at the unofficial Democratic convention held Tuesday evening at the court house.

Raymond A. McAndrew of Grove street, a former city clerk of Kingston, was named Democratic candidate for mayor at the city convention which followed the county convention and as his running mate for alderman-at-large, Fred C. Harder of the Second ward was named.

There was no nomination for the office of coroner and that matter was left up to the committee on vacancies.

The convention was called to order by Thomas J. Plunket, Democratic county chairman, and after roll call by Secretary William A. Kelly the temporary roll was made the permanent roll and the convention got down to business.

Chairman Plunket invited State Committeeman Marie A. Koenig of Kingston and Robert Haver of Ashokan to seats on the rostrum.

Placed in Nomination

Ray Garraghan of the Second ward, after extolling the merits of President Truman and praising his position on the Korean situation, placed in nomination the name of Frederick Dusing for county clerk. He said Dusing was a friend of the working people, known throughout the county as an honorable man who was always willing to aid his fellowmen.

Garraghan called for an aggressive campaign this fall by the party and said that complaint was made of the big Federal payroll by Democrats opponents. He said his opinion the state of New York's payroll had been "packed" under the Dewey administration

According to sheriff's office, Taylor shot himself in the right temple with .22 calibre bullet. The sheriff's office was notified of the death about 3:40 p. m. Tuesday.

County Investigator Leonard Belmore and Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline investigated.

Coroner Chipp, who was summoned to the scene of the shooting, later rendered his verdict.

Taylor, who was a welder and boilermaker, resided on the Morgan Hill road for the last six years.

He was a member of St. John's Church, West Hurley; Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus; and was councilor for the Rip Van Winkle Council, Boy Scouts of America.

He is survived by his wife, Florence Alquist Taylor and a son, Allen Taylor, both of Morgan Hill road; his father, Charles F. Taylor, Jamaica, L. I., five brothers, Harold, Walter, Gerald, Francis and Charles, Jr., all of New York; two sisters, Mrs. Charles Pfeiffer, New York; and Mrs. Thomas Shea, Philadelphia, Pa.

Visiting hours were held all day Wednesday at the Jenson and Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street. Among those who called were councilors and members of St. Joseph's Boy Scouts who recited the Holy Rosary under the direction of the Rev. John D. Simmons. The Rev. James Dunnigan also called together with many friends from the community and offered prayers in his behalf.

A funeral Mass will be held at the Church of the Presentation, Parsons Boulevard, Jamaica, L. I., Friday at 9:30 a. m. Burial will be in Cypress Hills Cemetery. The body has been taken to the Quinn Funeral Home, Hillside avenue, Jamaica, for visiting hours all day Thursday.

Load of Bread Is Sprayed by Four In Bakery Strike

Stink Bomb Fluid Is Cast Upon Truck and Contents in Jamaica

New York, July 5 (AP) — Four men sprayed a truck loaded with bread with a vile smelling chemical today in a new outbreak of violence in the four-day strike of bakery drivers.

An Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co., driver was dragged from his truck when he stopped to make a delivery at an A. & P. supermarket in Jamaica, Queens.

The men sprayed the 200 loaves of bread with the chemical, described by police as a fluid used in stink bombs. The truck also contained 30 cases of eggs and 10 watermelons. The driver took the merchandise back to the company's warehouse. The company is not affected by the strike.

In Newark, N. J., three men were under arrest, charged with being part of a mob that wrecked a non-striking bakery truck and beat the driver and his helper yesterday.

Federal mediators today scheduled renewed efforts to end the walkout of 4,000 union drivers against 16 major bread producers in the New York metropolitan area. The strike has cut off an estimated 80 per cent of the normal supply of bread. The four striking locals are members of the International Brotherhood of Teamsters, AFL.

The drivers are asking a five-day week, instead of the present six days; a commission rate raise from eight per cent of sales to 10 per cent, and a weekly minimum

Oatis Gets 10 Years for His 'Spying'

'Good Behavior' Might Take Off Five Years, Court Tells Associated Press Employe

Trial Called 'Sham'

AP in New York Assails Action as Mockery of Justice

Frankfurt, Germany, July 5 (AP) —William N. Oatis today began serving a 10-year prison sentence meted out by Communist Czechoslovakia for "spying out state secrets" while doing his job as an Associated Press reporter. The court said "good behavior" might take five years off the sentence.

Oatis, chief of the Associated Press Bureau in Prague, and three Czech employes of the bureau were sentenced yesterday in grim Pankrac prison after a two-day trial.

Two U. S. Embassy observers, who attended the trial said that after the five-man Red court handed down the sentence, they heard Oatis say faintly:

"I accept the sentence of the court and ask that I be sent somewhere where I can do some useful work."

The three Czech co-defendants, who had been employed mainly as translators, drew heavier sentences. They were:

Tomas Svododa, 20 years; Pavel Wojdinek, 18 years, and Peter Muntz, 16 years. All were stripped of their property and their civil rights for 10 years.

AP Assails Trial

In New York the Associated Press branded the trial as "a sham and a mockery of elemental justice." The AP said legitimate newsgathering had been "twisted and distorted" into espionage, and "the Associated Press will continue, by all means available, to seek Oatis' release from this cruel and unjust detention."

The U. S. State Department labelled the trial a "ludicrous travesty of justice" and declared:

"The confession of espionage was in truth but the admission of an American reporter that in the high traditions of his profession he was attempting under the most unfavorable conditions to report a true picture of conditions and events in Czechoslovakia as he saw them."

Declaring that Czech authorities find any press activity except the transmission of official propaganda to be "espionage," the State Department added:

"The Czechoslovak government thus rejects completely the principle of freedom of information.

World Court Proposes Board in Oil Dispute

Anglo-Iran Setup Suggested by Tribunal in Holland

The Hague, the Netherlands, July 5 (AP)—The International Court of Justice told Britain and Iran today to set up a joint board which would supervise continued operations of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company under its British management. Iran has announced she would not recognize a World Court decision in the dispute.

The court, asked by Britain to take up the case of Iran's nationalization of Anglo-Iranian properties, proposed that all revenues of the company in excess of what is needed to carry on operations be paid into an account to be administered by the joint board. This board would be composed of two members from the Iranian government, two from the British government, and a fifth and neutral member to be chosen by agreement.

Won't Recognize Court

The Iranian minister here, Hossein Navab, commented: "We did not recognize the competence of the court (in the oil dispute) and neither do we recognize the court's decision today. We consider the court's decision null and void."

There was no immediate British comment.

The court's order was by 10 of the 12 judges of the court, a United Nations agency. The other two, those of Poland and Egypt, did not join in the decision, but entered no dissenting opinion.

No Aggravation, Warning

The court said Iran and Britain should see that no action was taken to aggravate or extend the dispute. It added the Anglo-Iranian company's operations should continue under its own management as constituted prior to May 1, subject to such modifications by agreement in the joint board.

Iran had requested the court to declare that the dispute was not within World Court jurisdiction and to reject the British request for a ruling on interim measures. To this the court replied it could not accept in advance that the case fell outside its jurisdiction. It said the existing state of affairs justified an "indication of provisional measures" pending final judgment.

Aldermen Open Way For Water Treatment

Council Votes On Funeral Home

Ends Need for Future Applications for Any Zoning Change

The Common Council voted Tuesday to end the need of funeral establishments making application for zoning changes in the city.

The action followed heated discussion at the June 18 public hearing on the application of Everett Hodge for a business zone designation on the property at 21 Franklin street for use as a funeral home.

Controversy arose through the objection of Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll (D.) to introduction of the proposed zoning amendment by Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter (R.), and through a petition bearing 165 signatures of persons opposed to the proposed zoning change.

Carroll continued his objection Tuesday following a report by the laws and rules committee which

Council Has Active Time—Fluorine Work to Take Months

Common Council action Tuesday opened the way for fluoridation of the city's water supply and moved toward a stricter local law governing claims for sidewalk falls.

The aldermen also heard a request for extension of bus service in the Third Ward, approved a fence advertising proposal for the Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., and enacted a variety of other legislation in one of the heaviest sessions in the past two years.

Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner, who explained to the aldermen Tuesday the history of fluoridation as a means of preventing dental caries, said today that other communities of the county have indicated interest in fluoridation and some may act in the near future.

Time Is Required

Harry F. Edinger, county director of environmental sanitation, who also attended the meeting, said it will take from three to six months before the local water system can be equipped for fluoridation.

All communities with public water supply systems were notified of the opportunity to fluoridate water soon after the state reported that Kingston's period as a "control" in the fluorine experiment had ended, Dr. Broad said.

Bullets Given to Police

A police report at 10:20 a. m. Wednesday said that Lewis Otto, 26 Shufeldt street, turned over to the police department a clip of .43 calibre bullets, which he had found under a hedge he was clipping at St. Paul's Church, Hasbrouck avenue. Police said they were apparently of foreign make.

Reports $174 Loss

Alice Simmons of Woodstock reported to police today that a wallet containing $174 was apparently taken by someone from the table on which she had left it at the State of New York National Bank. The green wallet, she told police, contained $5, $10, $20, and $1 bills.

Guarantee Is Sought By Ridgway

General Still After Word Emissaries Will Not Be Fired Upon While on Mission

Colonels Chosen

Two Interpreters Will Accompany Officers to Kaesong

Tokyo, July 5 (AP) — Arrangements were made today for Communist and allied truce envoys to meet in peace Sunday. But that didn't stop the shooting in Korea.

Today Reds shot at two United Nations patrols as they approached Kaesong, war-scarred ancient capital of Korea where cease-fire talks will be held. Yesterday they had permitted one patrol to enter the deserted city near the 38th Parallel.

UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway still sought a guarantee from the Communists they would not fire in similar fashion on the emissaries he will send to Kaesong Sunday.

That one hitch remains to be settled before representatives of the opposing top commands can meet. And when they do get together it will be merely to make plans for the real cease-fire conference. That will be Tuesday.

Passes Without Word

Thursday passed without word that Chinese and North Korean commanders had guaranteed safe conduct to the UN delegation.

Instead the Reds' Peiping radio said the success of cease-fire talks "depends on whether the U. S. government and other governments taking part in the Korean war are sincere." And it told the Chinese that even after the shooting ends in Korea they must continue to build defenses ot guard against American "attempts at aggression."

Thursday morning Ridgway agreed to the Red suggestion that preliminary talks be held Sunday. Reliable sources said he would send three colonels—a marine, an airman and a South Korean. Two interpreters will accompany them.

Ridgway asked that the Communist generals guarantee them safe conduct to the meeting in no-man's land.

Earlier he had pledged his forces wouldn't shoot at the Red delegation, if their route was announced.

U. S. Casualties Increase

American battle casualties increased 1,361 this week to a wartime total of 78,110, the Defense Department announced in Washington.

Battle action dwindled as armistice talks drew nearer. But Reds opened up Thursday with the heaviest artillery and mortar fire they've used on the western front in a week. Their guns stopped shooting in the east where they've daily harrassed allied lines.

Chinese stabbed at U.N. lines with three minor probing attacks. But almost everywhere they pulled back from allied patrols.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force sent only 210 sorties against the Reds in daylight Thursday. Only 20 of these hit near battle lines. One Mustang fighter was shot down by Red movements.

U.N. ground patrols made two noteworthy movements.

A South Korean patrol pushed up to the east coast under the protecting cover of naval guns to a point 40 air miles north of the 38th parallel. This is the deepest U.N. penetration of Red Korea this year.

Two powerful allied task forces on the central front began a slow withdrawal from the northern end of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang iron triangle, taking UN outposts with them. They had pushed 24 miles north of the 38th Parallel and driven Chinese from the triangle's dominating hills, three miles south of Pyonggang.

One UN patrol probed into Kaesong beyond the western front Wednesday and found it deserted. A second patrol ran into Red troops two miles east of the ancient Korean capital.

Other patrols combed the Kaesong area Thursday. Behind them bulldozers smoothed out the rutted and war churned road over which UN cease fire emissaries may travel from Seoul to cease fire talks in Kaesong.

CAA Cites Kingston in Report On State's Need for Airports

Washington, July 5 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration has listed 99 places in New York state where it says airports should be built or improved.

The CAA announced its annual National Airport plan Tuesday. It listed 4,945 places in the nation.

Total cost of the overall plan was placed at $661,975,000. Of this, the federal government's share would be $323,738,000, and local sponsors would pay the rest.

The CAA emphasized the listing of an airport or a proposed site in its report did not assure that any funds, federal or local, would be allocated for it.

Charles F. Horne, CAA administrator, must decide which airports will be picked for construction or improvement after Congress approves the CAA appropriation for the fiscal year that started July 1. There is no indication here when Congress will approve it.

The CAA noted that the list included some airports that had been listed previously. Other airports, previously included, were omitted because of the national emergency or other factors. The aim of the program is to provide a system of public airports to meet civil aviation needs.

Some of the projects have been completed and others are under construction.

Places in New York state where the CAA plans new airports or improvements to existing facilities include Callicoon, Ellenville, Fishers Island, Freeport, Glen Cove, Hudson, Huntington, Islip (MacArthur), Kingston, Larchmont, Liberty, Long Beach, Mahopac, Middletown (Orange county), Montauk, Mount Kisco, Mount Vernon, Newburgh, New Rochelle, New York (Bronx, International, LaGuardia, Jamaica, Richmond), Peekskill, Spring Valley, Tuxedo Park, Westhampton Beach (Suffolk county), White Plains (Westchester county), Yonkers, and a new seaplane base for Poughkeepsie.

Organized Groups Attack School Administrations

San Francisco, July 5 (AP)—Organized groups opposed to public education are joining forces to attack public school administrations in several American cities, the National Association was told Tuesday.

Attacks recently have been made or are under way against the school system of Englewood, N. J.; Scarsdale, N. Y.; Port Washington, N. Y.; San Angelo, Tex.; Ferndale, Mich.; Montgomery county, Maryland, and several places in California, a panel of speakers asserted.

About a dozen organizations constitute the "front" for these "enemies of public education," the speakers said.

Four widely known educators teamed up in the panel to warn school officials generally that other attacks elsewhere may be expected. They are Dr. John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State College; Dr. Virgil Rogers, Battle Creek, Mich., school superintendent; Dr. Richard B. Kennan, executive secretary of the NEA Defense Commission, and Glenn Snow, assistant secretary for lay relations of the NEA.

The speakers named 10 organizations which they said were the principal sowers of distrust in the public mind about school matters.

In general, they said, the organizations are right-wing in nature, without any traces of Communism, and seem motivated by dislike of the rising cost of public education, by opposition to school expansions and the "fads and frills" of progressive education, and by bigotry.

The dissidents often started out as splinter groups from parent-teacher organizations and contain elements of business people and taxpayers' associations, Dr. Rogers reported.

They often use totalitarian tac-

In New York the Associated Press branded the trial as "a sham and a mockery of elemental justice." The AP said legitimate newsgathering had been "twisted and distorted" into espionage, and "the Associated Press will continue, by all means available, to seek Oatis' release from this cruel and unjust detention."

The U. S. State Department labelled the trial a "ludicrous travesty of justice" and declared:

"The confession of espionage was in truth but the admission of an American reporter that in the high traditions of his profession he was attempting under the most unfavorable conditions to report a true picture of conditions and events in Czechoslovakia as he saw them."

Declaring that Czech authorities find any press activity except the transmission of official propaganda to be "espionage," the State Department added:

"The Czechoslovak government thus rejects completely the principle of freedom of information.

Anglo-Iran Setup Suggested by Tribunal in Holland

The Hague, the Netherlands, July 5 (AP)—The International Court of Justice told Britain and Iran today to set up a joint board which would supervise continued operations of the Anglo-Iranian Oil Company under its British management. Iran has announced she would not recognize a World Court decision in the dispute.

The court, asked by Britain to take up the case of Iran's nationalization of Anglo-Iranian properties, proposed that all revenues of the company in excess of what is needed to carry on operations be paid into an account to be administered by the joint board. This board would be composed of two members from the Iranian government, two from the British government, and a fifth and neutral member to be chosen by agreement.

Won't Recognize Court

The Iranian minister here, Hossein Navab, commented: "We did not recognize the competence of the court (in the oil dispute) and neither do we recognize the court's decision today. We consider the court's decision null and void."

There was no immediate British comment.

The court's order was by 10 of the 12 judges of the court, a United Nations agency. The other two, those of Poland and Egypt, did not join in the decision, but entered no dissenting opinion.

No Aggravation, Warning

The court said Iran and Britain should see that no action was taken to aggravate or extend the dispute. It added the Anglo-Iranian company's operations should continue under its own management as constituted prior to May 1, subject to such modifications by agreement in the joint board.

Iran had requested the court to declare that the dispute was not within World Court jurisdiction and to reject the British request for a ruling on interim measures. To this the court replied it could not accept in advance that the case fell outside its jurisdiction. It said the existing state of affairs justified an "indication of provisional measures" pending final judgment.

Aldermen Open Way For Water Treatment

Council Votes On Funeral Home

Ends Need for Future Applications for Any Zoning Change

The Common Council voted Tuesday to end the need of funeral establishments making application for zoning changes in the city.

The action followed heated discussion at the June 18 public hearing on the application of Everett Hodge for a business zone designation on the property at 21 Franklin street for use as a funeral home.

Controversy arose through the objection of Tenth Ward Alderman James J. Carroll (D.) to introduction of the proposed zoning amendment by Sixth Ward Alderman David Schechter (R.), and through a petition bearing 165 signatures of persons opposed to the proposed zoning change.

Carroll continued his objection Tuesday following a report by the laws and rules committee which

Council Has Active Time—Fluorine Work to Take Months

Common Council action Tuesday opened the way for fluoridation of the city's water supply and moved toward a stricter local law governing claims for sidewalk falls.

The aldermen also heard a request for extension of bus service in the Third Ward, approved a fence advertising proposal for the Kingston Baseball Club, Inc., and enacted a variety of other legislation in one of the heaviest sessions in the past two years.

Dr. Robert H. Broad, county health commissioner, who explained to the aldermen Tuesday the history of fluoridation as a means of preventing dental caries, said today that other communities of the county have indicated interest in fluoridation and some may act in the near future.

Time Is Required

Harry F. Edinger, county director of environmental sanitation, who also attended the meeting, said it will take from three to six months before the local water system can be equipped for fluoridation.

All communities with public water supply systems were notified of the opportunity to fluoridate water soon after the state reported that Kingston's period as a "control" in the fluorine experiment had ended, Dr. Broad said.

The fluoridation proposal, sug-

Bullets Given to Police

A police report at 10:20 a. m. Wednesday said that Lewis Otto, 26 Shufeldt street, turned over to the police department a clip of .43 calibre bullets, which he had found under a hedge he was clipping at St. Paul's Church, Hasbrouck avenue. Police said they were apparently of foreign make.

Reports $174 Loss

Alice Simmons of Woodstock reported to police today that a wallet containing $174 was apparently taken by someone from the table on which she had left it at the State of New York National Bank. The green wallet, she told police, contained $5, $10, $20, and $1 bills.

Guarantee Is Sought By Ridgway

Colonels Chosen

Two Interpreters Will Accompany Officers to Kaesong

Tokyo, July 5 (AP) — Arrangements were made today for Communist and allied truce envoys to meet in peace Sunday. But that didn't stop the shooting in Korea.

Today Reds shot at two United Nations patrols as they approached Kaesong, war-scarred ancient capital of Korea where cease-fire talks will be held. Yesterday they had permitted one patrol to enter the deserted city near the 38th Parallel.

UN Commander Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway still sought a guarantee from the Communists they would not fire in similar fashion on the emissaries he will send to Kaesong Sunday.

That one hitch remains to be settled before representatives of the opposing top commands can meet. And when they do get together it will be merely to make plans for the real cease-fire conference. That will be Tuesday.

Passes Without Word

Thursday passed without word that Chinese and North Korean commanders had guaranteed safe conduct to the UN delegation.

Instead the Reds' Peiping radio said the success of cease-fire talks "depends on whether the U. S. government and other governments taking part in the Korean war are sincere." And it told the Chinese that even after the shooting ends in Korea they must continue to build defenses ot guard against American "attempts at aggression."

Thursday morning Ridgway agreed to the Red suggestion that preliminary talks be held Sunday. Reliable sources said he would send three colonels—a marine, an airman and a South Korean. Two interpreters will accompany them.

Ridgway asked that the Communist generals guarantee them safe conduct to the meeting in no-man's land.

Earlier he had pledged his forces wouldn't shoot at the Red delegation, if their route was announced.

U. S. Casualties Increase

American battle casualties increased 1,361 this week to a wartime total of 78,110, the Defense Department announced in Washington.

Battle action dwindled as armistice talks drew nearer. But Reds opened up Thursday with the heaviest artillery and mortar fire they've used on the western front in a week. Their guns stopped shooting in the east where they've daily harrassed allied lines.

Chinese stabbed at U.N. lines with three minor probing attacks. But almost everywhere they pulled back from allied patrols.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force sent only 210 sorties against the Reds in daylight Thursday. Only 20 of these hit near battle lines. One Mustang fighter was shot down by Red movements.

U.N. ground patrols made two noteworthy movements.

A South Korean patrol pushed up to the east coast under the protecting cover of naval guns to a point 40 air miles north of the 38th parallel. This is the deepest U.N. penetration of Red Korea this year.

Two powerful allied task forces on the central front began a slow withdrawal from the northern end of the Chorwon-Kumhwa-Pyonggang iron triangle, taking UN outposts with them. They had pushed 24 miles north of the 38th Parallel and driven Chinese from the triangle's dominating hills, three miles south of Pyonggang.

One UN patrol probed into Kaesong beyond the western front Wednesday and found it deserted. A second patrol ran into Red troops two miles east of the ancient Korean capital.

Other patrols combed the Kaesong area Thursday. Behind them bulldozers smoothed out the rutted and war churned road over which UN cease fire emissaries may travel from Seoul to cease fire talks in Kaesong.

This May Be Her Last 4th of July

Sharon O'Neill, 4, smiles at her home in El Cerrito, Calif., as she holds the fireworks that gave her "a big thrill" in celebrating probably her last Fourth of July. The city council gave special permission for a small fireworks display in her yard when they learned Sharon is a victim of leukemia and doctors say she has only a few weeks to live. El Cerrito has had an anti-firecracker ordinance in effect for 20 years. (AP Wirephoto).

CAA Cites Kingston in Report On State's Need for Airports

Washington, July 5 (AP)—The Civil Aeronautics Administration has listed 99 places in New York state where it says airports should be built or improved.

The CAA announced its annual National Airport plan Tuesday. It listed 4,945 places in the nation.

Total cost of the overall plan was placed at $661,975,000. Of this, the federal government's share would be $323,738,000, and local sponsors would pay the rest.

The CAA emphasized the listing of an airport or a proposed site in its report did not assure that any funds, federal or local, would be allocated for it.

Charles F. Horne, CAA administrator, must decide which airports will be picked for construction or improvement after Congress approves the CAA appropriation for the fiscal year that started July 1. There is no indication here when Congress will approve it.

The CAA noted that the list included some airports that had been listed previously. Other airports, previously included, were omitted because of the national emergency or other factors. The aim of the program is to provide a system of public airports to meet civil aviation needs.

Some of the projects have been completed and others are under construction.

Places in New York state where the CAA plans new airports or improvements to existing facilities include Callicoon, Ellenville, Fishers Island, Freeport, Glen Cove, Hudson, Huntington, Islip (MacArthur), Kingston, Larchmont, Liberty, Long Beach, Mahopac, Middletown (Orange county), Montauk, Mount Kisco, Mount Vernon, Newburgh, New Rochelle, New York (Bronx, International, LaGuardia, Jamaica, Richmond), Peekskill, Spring Valley, Tuxedo Park, Westhampton Beach (Suffolk county), White Plains (Westchester county), Yonkers, and a new seaplane base for Poughkeepsie.

Organized Groups Attack School Administrations

San Francisco, July 5 (AP)—Organized groups opposed to public education are joining forces to attack public school administrations in several American cities, the National Association was told Tuesday.

Attacks recently have been made or are under way against the school system of Englewood, N. J.; Scarsdale, N. Y.; Port Washington, N. Y.; San Angelo, Tex.; Ferndale, Mich.; Montgomery county, Maryland, and several places in California, a panel of speakers asserted.

About a dozen organizations constitute the "front" for these "enemies of public education," the speakers said.

Four widely known educators teamed up in the panel to warn school officials generally that other attacks elsewhere may be expected. They are Dr. John W. Davis, president of West Virginia State College; Dr. Virgil Rogers, Battle Creek, Mich., school superintendent; Dr. Richard B. Kennan, executive secretary of the NEA Defense Commission, and Glenn Snow, assistant secretary for lay relations of the NEA.

The speakers named 10 organizations which they said were the principal sowers of distrust in the public mind about school matters.

In general, they said, the organizations are right-wing in nature, without any traces of Communism, and seem motivated by dislike of the rising cost of public education, by opposition to school expansions and the "fads and frills" of progressive education, and by bigotry.

The dissidents often started out as splinter groups from parent-teacher organizations and contain elements of business people and taxpayers' associations, Dr. Rogers reported.

They often use totalitarian tac-

Hotel Fire Reported

Firemen were called to the St. Regis Hotel, one of the large hotels in Fleischmanns, early this morning. Damage was reported as slight.

Council Votes

held that it was its "considered conclusion that most funeral parlors are located in residential sections of our city and that such use is compatabile with a residential use."

Recommends Amendment

The committee recommended that "the zoning ordinance of the city of Kingston be amended to allow funeral homes as a permissable use in the residential zones of the City of Kingston." And the council voted the measure by a vote of 9 to 3. The former party vote of 8 to 5 was changed through Charles Cole, 13th Ward entering the service, and by the resignation of J. Richard Smith, (D). Seventh Ward.)

Carroll said he had been advised "by the people of my ward" that a petition was circulated and that he learned that it contained the names of "almost 100 per cent of the residents within the 500 feet radius of the parcel in question," the 500 feet radius being a zoning law regulation. He held that "no petition was circulated or filed by the applicant."

Kelly Ends Bickering

Party arguments followed the reading of the committee report. It ended abruptly when Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly, in his first move to quell bickering, called for order with the suggestion that "everyone by this time, is familiar with the pros and cons," of the proposal.

Carroll reiterated his prior charge that the majority was enacting the legislation in "a sly way."

"I feel that these petitions being signed as they were, is not only a directive to me, but an express order of the people of the 10th Ward. By the same token, I feel that each and every alderman on this council is bound to follow the wishes of these people."

Relyea Takes Exception

Alderman Abram D. Relyea (R), 11th Ward, declared: "I take exception to Alderman Carroll's statement that we are trying to pull the wool over anybody's eyes. I cannot see any reason why a funeral home cannot be permitted in a residential area."

The alderman stressed that most funeral homes are now in the residential area.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel (D) backed Carroll's contention that the majority was attempting "sly" legislation, and declared: "I would recommend that the measure be killed by the majority in this council, and that the zoning change not be allowed."

Schechter Objects

Alderman Schechter, who had introduced the zoning proposal, said he also objected to the charges of "low blows." He stressed that some of the same names which appeared on the petition opposing the Hodge application were listed in favor of the McCardle Funeral Home only two blocks away when that petition was in circulation.

The Sixth Ward alderman also said that it was brought out by some at the public hearing on the proposal that some who signed the opposing petition indicated that they would be in favor of the zoning change if it had been introduced by Alderman Carroll. Schechter said that one thing which led to opposition to the proposal at the public hearing was the fear that some other business would move on the premises, if the funeral home moved out.

Radel Speaks

Alderman Radel then taking note of Schechter's reference to the public hearing, said he attended the hearing and found only five councilmen there.

"I attended with an open mind," Radel said. The other members, except the five, who attended, he said, apparently were making up their minds without having attended the hearing. He defended Alderman Carroll, as the duly elected alderman of the 10th Ward and said the people of that ward "chose to sign against" the petition.

Radel was about to continue on the point that some of the aldermen "must have had their information second hand," when Alderman-at-Large Kelly called for order and a vote on the zoning proposal, "unless somebody has something new to say." The council quickly came to order and proceeded on the vote.

'Matter of Principle'

The laws and rules committee report on the proposal stressed that the request for the zoning change "involves a matter of principle rather than personality and your committee feels that a decision should be reached objectively."

It noted that "considerable opposition was expressed against the application because of its sponsorship by Schechter instead of Carroll, and said: "There was no impropriety in Alderman Schechter sponsoring the resolution since his act merely started the machinery in motion for a consideration of the matter by the Common Council."

On the point that some opponents would be for the proposal if it had been offered by Carroll, the report said, "a clash of personalities does not aid your committee in arriving at a just and equitable solution to the problem."

No Controlling Number

On the number signing the petition opposing, the committee said, "the number of people signing the petition is not controlling even though most are within a radius of 500 feet from the property, since many of them are on other streets than Franklin street, and many of them are people conducting businesses on Broadway and even Downs street."

The committee agreed that the "street is now residential, and that the investment of the property owner in his home should not be jeopardized by a change in the zoning ordinance. In our opinion a funeral home does not depreciate a residential neighborhood."

'Benefit to Community'

A funeral home is a benefit to a community and not just a neighborhood, the report said, and it stressed that "great weight should be given to the fact that funeral homes in Kingston are located in residential neighborhoods," and "several undertakers have a funeral home in the very home in which they themselves live." The report said the committee saw similarity in funeral and nursing homes.

The zoning law has been amended many times to permit funeral homes in residential areas, the committee said, and one of the most recent was in 1948 permitting the McCardle place at 99 Henry street, and it noted that "Alderman Carroll was one of the members of the council favoring this change, which was approved unanimously."

The committee noted that there was merit to the argument that a change may be made after a property is approved for a funeral home, and said "to meet this objection we recommend that funeral parlors be allowed in the residential zone."

The report was signed by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, who is a member of the committee, and Aldermen Abram D. Relyea, co-chairman, and Paul Schatzel.

The committee was reduced by the recent entrance of Charles Cole, 13th Ward, into the service and the resignation of J. Richard Smith. Kelly Tuesday appointed Alderman Carroll to the Laws and Rules Committee and Alderman John Buboltz to the Railroad and Bus Committee.

A petition signed by 30 residents of Greenkill avenue asking that the south side of the street be repaved, was referred to the Board of Public Works.

tics, he said, including "repetition of the big lie," smear techniques, rabble-rousing and name-calling. They frequently appeal for funds and some of them have been aided financially by large corporations, Dr. Rogers said.

The ten leading organizations mentioned by the speakers have been named previously in NEA publications and some of them have figured in U. S. Senate investigations. They are:

Friends of the Public Schools of America, Inc., of Washington, D. C., headed by retired army Brig. Gen. Amos A. Fries.

The National Council for American Education, New York.

Employers Association of Chicago.

National Association of Pro-America, Seattle, Wash.

American Education Association, New York.

Guardians of American Education, Inc., New York.

The last two named have been inactive recently, Dr. Kennan said.

Gets Suspended Sentence

George McGahy, 48, of Kew Gardens, who police said, was "doing traffic duty" at Albany avenue near Manor avenue when he was arrested at 12:20 a. m. Wednesday, was given a 10 days suspended sentence when he appeared before City Judge Raymond J. Mino today. The arrest was by Officer William Hanley and Special Albert Elsele and the charge was public intoxication.

Hotel Fire Reported

Council Votes

held that it was its "considered conclusion that most funeral parlors are located in residential sections of our city and that such use is compatabile with a residential use."

Recommends Amendment

The committee recommended that "the zoning ordinance of the city of Kingston be amended to allow funeral homes as a permissable use in the residential zones of the City of Kingston." And the council voted the measure by a vote of 9 to 3. The former party vote of 8 to 5 was changed through Charles Cole, 13th Ward entering the service, and by the resignation of J. Richard Smith, (D). Seventh Ward.

Carroll said he had been advised "by the people of my ward" that a petition was circulated and that he learned that it contained the names of "almost 100 per cent of the residents within the 500 feet radius of the parcel in question," the 500 feet radius being a zoning law regulation. He held that "no petition was circulated or filed by the applicant."

Kelly Ends Bickering

Party arguments followed the reading of the committee report. It ended abruptly when Alderman-at-large Joseph Kelly, in his first move to quell bickering, called for order with the suggestion that "everyone by this time, is familiar with the pros and cons," of the proposal.

Carroll reiterated his prior charge that the majority was enacting the legislation in "a sly way."

"I feel that these petitions being signed as they were, is not only a directive to me, but an express order of the people of the 10th Ward. By the same token, I feel that each and every alderman on this council is bound to follow the wishes of these people."

Relyea Takes Exception

Alderman Abram D. Relyea (R), 11th Ward, declared: "I take exception to Alderman Carroll's statement that we are trying to pull the wool over anybody's eyes. I cannot see any reason why a funeral home cannot be permitted in a residential area."

The alderman stressed that most funeral homes are now in the residential area.

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel (D) backed Carroll's contention that the majority was attempting "sly" legislation, and declared: "I would recommend that the measure be killed by the majority in this council, and that the zoning change not be allowed."

Schechter Objects

Alderman Schechter, who had introduced the zoning proposal, said he also objected to the charges of "low blows." He stressed that some of the same names which appeared on the petition opposing the Hodge application were listed in favor of the McCardle Funeral Home only two blocks away when that petition was in circulation.

The Sixth Ward alderman also said that it was brought out by some at the public hearing on the proposal that some who signed the opposing petition indicated that they would be in favor of the zoning change if it had been introduced by Alderman Carroll. Schechter said that one thing which led to opposition to the proposal at the public hearing was the fear that some other business would move on the premises, if the funeral home moved out.

Radel Speaks

Alderman Radel then taking note of Schechter's reference to the public hearing, said he attended the hearing and found only five councilmen there.

"I attended with an open mind," Radel said. The other members, except the five, who attended, he said, apparently were making up their minds without having attended the hearing. He defended Alderman Carroll, as the duly elected alderman of the 10th Ward and said the people of that ward "chose to sign against" the petition.

Radel was about to continue on the point that some of the aldermen "must have had their information second hand," when Alderman-at-Large Kelly called for order and a vote on the zoning proposal, "unless somebody has something new to say." The council quickly came to order and proceeded on the vote.

'Matter of Principle'

The laws and rules committee report on the proposal stressed that the request for the zoning change "involves a matter of principle rather than personality and your committee feels that a decision should be reached objectively."

It noted that "considerable opposition was expressed against the application because of its sponsorship by Schechter instead of Carroll, and said: "There was no impropriety in Alderman Schechter sponsoring the resolution since his act merely started the machinery in motion for a consideration of the matter by the Common Council."

On the point that some opponents would be for the proposal if it had been offered by Carroll, the report said, "a clash of personalities does not aid your committee in arriving at a just and equitable solution to the problem."

No Controlling Number

On the number signing the petition opposing, the committee said, "the number of people signing the petition is not controlling even though most are within a radius of 500 feet from the property, since many of them are on other streets than Franklin street, and many of them are people conducting businesses on Broadway and even Downs street."

The committee agreed that the "street is now residential, and that the investment of the property owner in his home should not be jeopardized by a change in the zoning ordinance. In our opinion a funeral home does not depreciate a residential neighborhood."

'Benefit to Community'

A funeral home is a benefit to a community and not just a neighborhood, the report said, and it stressed that "great weight should be given to the fact that funeral homes in Kingston are located in residential neighborhoods," and "several undertakers have a funeral home in the very home in which they themselves live." The report said the committee saw similarity in funeral and nursing homes.

The zoning law has been amended many times to premit funeral homes in residential areas, the committee said, and one of the most recent was in 1948 permitting the McCardle place at 99 Henry street, and it noted that "Alderman Carroll was one of the members of the council favoring this change, which was approved unanimously."

The committee noted that there was merit to the argument that a change may be made after a property is approved for a funeral home, and said "to meet this objection we recommend that funeral parlors be allowed in the residential zone."

The report was signed by Alderman-at-Large Joseph Kelly, who is a member of the committee, and Aldermen Abram D. Relyea, co-chairman, and Paul Schatzel.

The committee was reduced by the recent entrance of Charles Cole, 13th Ward, into the service and the resignation of J. Richard Smith. Kelly Tuesday appointed Alderman Carroll to the Laws and Rules Committee and Alderman John Buboltz to the Railroad and Bus Committee.

A petition signed by 30 residents of Greenkill avenue asking that the south side of the street be repaved, was referred to the Board of Public Works.

Gets Suspended Sentence

George McGahy, 48, of Kew Gardens, who police said, was "doing traffic duty" at Albany avenue near Manor avenue when he was arrested at 12:20 a. m. The arrest was by Officer William Hanley and Special Albert Elsele and the charge was public intoxication.

AN AIR FORCE ACADEMY

A bill before the House of Representatives would establish an Air Force academy which would be intended to have equal academic stature with the Military Academy at West Point and the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The school would confer college degrees and Air Force commissions on its graduates.

Proponents say the proposed academy is needed to provide a steady supply of regular officers for the Air Force. A fourth of the graduates of Annapolis and West Point now are detailed to serve in the Air Force, but the Army and Navy say they have need of all the graduates of their respective academies for the expanding defense program.

West Point and Annapolis have demonstrated that young men can be trained for careers in the services and can be given a well-rounded education as well. They have set high scholarship and behavior standards. A third academy, operated on equivalent standards, could be a credit both to education and to the Air Force.

The importance of air power is growing. This fact was recognized when the Air Force was given the status of an independent service. Its leaders doubtless believe that the establishment of its own academy is another essential step in the growth of the service to meet its role. There is much logic in this argument.

TEMPER FLARE-UPS

Although the days are past when heated debate on the floor of the Senate or the House of Representatives might lead to a duel between two of the debaters, there are still occasions when temper outbursts lead to fisticuffs. Two members of the House recently engaged in a scuffle in a corridor after an argument about an appointment that had been made. A clash between a member of Congress and a newspaper columnist attracted wide attention not long ago.

Members of Congress are only human. They have, like those who elected them, human irritability and temper. But engaging in brawls should be beneath the dignity of any man in such a high position. Schoolboys who cannot settle their differences peacefully and decide to fight in the corridors of the school are subject to reprimand, but their conduct can be partially excused because of their immaturity. Members of Congress can claim no such excuse.

TO START OR NOT

A new gadget for cars is announced which sounds much more useful than some already installed. This is a battery tester which may be mounted on the dashboard or the steering column and indicates immediately whether there is enough power to start the engine. This will be a great timesaver, and will appeal to motorists who wonder on cold winter mornings if they should keep stepping on the starter in the hope of hearing a welcome throb of the engine.

As sure as sunrise, however, on some cold morning when the indicator declares that the engine won't start the owner will try it anyway, just for luck, and out of sheer perversity the thing will start right off. After that the motorist will never quite believe the indicator, anyway.

CONSISTENCY

The accusation is sometimes made that a public figure has behaved inconsistently. This can be a valid complaint if the individual has varied from a position which he was pledged to keep as a matter of honor. But inconsistency is not necessarily a fault.

The late Senator Arthur Vandenberg was at one time an isolationist and later became an internationalist. Many other statesmen have started with one point of view and been led by circumstances and situations to another. The ability of the human mind to change and adopt new beliefs is valuable to a man in public life, as in private life. Often we confuse inconsistency and flexibility, and then may credit a stubborn man with being a man of determination. Emerson once wrote that "Foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

'These Days'

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

FACT AND FICTION

It is not really important, so far as the Korean was in concerned, whether we call the troops who fought against us Chinese Communists or Chinese volunteers. It was Soviet China that on November 6 invaded Korea with the object of fighting the United States. As Dean Acheson put it, their object was to fight their way into the United Nations.

In a broader sense, the use of the term "volunteers" adds to all the new confusions that Soviet Russia has drawn from the Marxist Pandora's box. Instead of a country having allies, who are responsible, it calls for volunteers, which a nation may provide, without responsibility.

This concept appeared in the Spanish Civil War, the Fascists and Nazis supporting one side; Soviet Russia supporting the other. It was, in effect, an experimental war, each side testing its strength and methods against the other. The Fascists, Nazis and Communists were volunteers in that war; so were the airplanes, tanks, arms and munitions. When the anti-Communists won and the regime now headed by Franco was set up, neither Italy, Germany nor Russia assumed any responsibility.

Now this concept is being fictitously applied to the discussions concerning the Korean situation. Soviet China came into it as a volunteer. Although North Korea was defeated by General MacArthur, Soviet China entered the war, prolonged it, made an American victory impossible, created havoc within the United Nations, and now in fact, each individual Chinese soldier in that war was a volunteer.

The fiction is designed to eliminate, in whatever negotiations take place, Soviet China as an aggressor nation. It is astute reasoning on the part of the Soviets, but Soviet China should be held accountable for an international impropriety that cost American lives.

It is of importance at this moment to ask why the Korean war had to be prolonged. On March 24, General MacArthur spoke these words:

"Within the area of my authority as military commander, I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander-in-chief of the enemy forces in an earnest effort to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the UN in Korea, to which no nation may take just exceptions, might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

On June 29, General Ridgway spoke these words::

"As commander-in-chief of the United Nations command, I have been instructed to communicate to you the following:

"'I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice providing for the cessation of hostilities and all acts of armed force in Korea, with adequate guarantees for the maintenance of such armistice.

"'Upon receipt of word from you that such a meeting is desired I shall be prepared to name my representative. I would also at that time suggest a date at which he could meet with your representative. I propose that such a meeting could take place aboard a Danish hospital ship in Wonsan harbor.'"

The spirit of the language is identical; the words are not far apart. The question therefore must be asked why General MacArthur was dismissed for doing what General Ridgway was instructed to do.

Obviously, some deal was being cooked up in March which General MacArthur spoiled by what apparently was a correct but, from the State Department's standpoint, premature statement.

The deal was undoubtedly wrecked by the MacArthur dismissal which, whatever other purposes it served, forced the administration to alter its publicly declared policies.

Now we are to enter upon prolonged negotiations with Soviet China on the very questions which Soviet Russia has been demanding since 1948. The questions may be summarized as follows:

1. To obtain a seat in the United Nations as the only recognized government in China;
2. To be permitted to occupy Formosa and to abolish the Nationalist government, headed by Chiang Kai-shek;
3. Succession to China's permanent seat on the Security Council of the United Nations;
4. The elimination of the United States from Asiatic affairs;
5. A seat at the conference for a treaty with Japan.

In pursuit of these policies, Soviet Russia boycotted the United Nations for six and one-half months. They conducted a world-wide phony peace campaign. They actually supplied a nation with the weapons of war, despite the assumption of the responsibility for that war by the United Nations. Having tested the persistence, if not the strength, of the United States, they have now assumed the peace offensive.

This is a moment of a show of real power in the diplomatic field. We ought not to lose again.

That Body of Yours

By James W. Barton, M.D.

SOME CAUSES OF EXTREME SLEEPINESS

Most physicians, when they find a patient whose chief symptom is a desire to sleep most of his time, try to find some infection (teeth, tonsils, gums, gall bladder, large intestine). Dr. M. N. Pai (Belmont Hospital, Sutton) reports in the British Medical Journal a survey of patients in psychiatric hospitals with a wide variety of sleep disturbances. He makes a report based on a study of 67 male patients who complained of diurnal somnolence (drowsiness during which a patient is partially aware of what is happpening around him) or hypersomnia (a condition in which daily more hours are spent in sleep than in wakefulness.)

These personality studies and psychiatric investigations revealed that most of these patients had immature and inadequate personalities and had previously reacted to stress by developing mental and emotional symptoms. In each case they were not interested in their occupation, lacked suitable occupation, or were actually bored by it.

Excessive sleep and abnormal appetite, when found in the same patient, were due to different factors or conditions and both symptoms were manifestations of neurosis.

As an excessive desire for sleep may be due to pressure on the brain or to some gland disturbance, these conditions were investigated but neither condition was found in cases thoroughly examined.

Dr. Pai states that these sleep disturbances may be a form of hysteria. He points out that this extreme sleepiness and also unusual hunger are not due to disturbances of the front part of the brain as could be expected, because extreme sleepiness and hunger usually produce other well-known symptoms such as euphoria (feeling of bodily comfort,) loss of initiative (desire to work or start things) and changes in personality.

As stated above, most cases of extreme sleepiness, both day and night, are usually caused by infection which gradually increases in amount until the individual spends most of his time asleep. This means that infection as the cause of extreme sleepiness should be the first thought and a thorough search made for it. However, the fact that so many cases found in a mental hospital were caused by hysteria should be remembered as both infection and hysteria can be treated successfully.

Constipation

It has been estimated that more persons are constipated than are not. This may be a cause of sleepiness. Send today for Dr. Barton's informative booklet entitled "Constipation," enclosing 10 cents and a 3-cent stamp to cover cost of handling and mailing, to the Bell Syndicate, Inc., in care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, Post Office Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. "As Soon as Moscow Invents Peace, We'll Declare It"

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON

Washington—President Truman was skeptical when he first heard about Russia's desire for a truce in Korea. "It's like walking across a mine field," he told a friend. "You never know when a mine will blow up on you."..... U. S. military men have been as skeptical as Truman, diplomats not so skeptical. Diplomats believe the Kremlin has been watching our new atomic tests, that the Chinese have been seriously hurt by our slaughter of their troops, and that all hands would welcome an armistice....Reasons for military skepticism is that Russia has been shipping new jets into Manchuria at the rate of 150 per month. The jets are shipped in crates via the Trans-Siberian Railroad, assembled just across the Siberian border, then flown into Manchuria. The Chinese now have enough jets to tear our bombers to pieces if we tried to carry out MacArthur's advice and bomb Manchuria....chief probable reason for the Communist desire for delay in discussing a truce is their mechanized army now building up across the Yalu river. This army is made up of "volunteers" from the satellites. U. S. intelligence reports it to be fairly well mechanized, and preparations for this army has been going on since Malik's peace offer.... That is why army men have their tongue-in-cheek regarding any bona fide desire for peace.

The air force wanted to drop the cease-fire appeal to the Communists on the North Korean capital, Pyongyang, instead of broadcasting it by radio. They wanted to put it in a pouch with a Red ribbon attached. However, the joint chiefs and the State Department overruled the air force, decided a radio broadcast of the cease-fire would get there quicker. A pouch might not be discovered for days.

Gillette in Huff

No announcement was made to the press, but Iowa's Democratic Sen. Guy Gillette angrily resigned as chairman of the Senate elections committee last week in a flare-up over the Maryland election probe.

The statuesque Gillette blew his top behind closed doors, shouting that he had been "embarrassed" and had suffered "personal discomfort" over the way the Maryland investigation had been handled. He also accused the Maryland subcommittee of failing to consult with him.

This was a slap at the subcommittee members—Mike Monroney of Oklahoma and Tom Hennings of Missouri, Democrats; with Margaret Chase Smith of Maine and Robert Hendrickson of New Jersey, Republicans. They have been probing the smear campaign that led to the defeat of veteran Sen. Millard Tydings and the election of the unknown Chicago Tribune-backed John Butler.

Gillette has been under pressure from the Chicago Tribune group to whitewash the Maryland probe—the same paper which helped engineer the smear campaign.

It was Hennings who brought up the Maryland matter behind closed doors of the full Senate Rules Committee. He complained that the Maryland subcommittee couldn't get out a report, because it lacked a counsel.

"These things (elections) have to be investigated, and the investigators have to be directed by counsel," Hennings insisted.

He pointed out that the House had blocked an attempt to hire Robert T. Murphy, a Washington attorney, as counsel, and that the committee was still relying on Gillette's friend and the former counsel. Ed McDermott, who was no longer on the payroll but spent his time flying between his law practice in Iowa and the committee in Washington.

Fooling Around

"I am tired of fooling around with this committee without a counsel," the Missouri senator observed. "Senator Hendrickson and I are the only two lawyers on the committee, and we don't have time to go to the law libraries to do research."

Meanwhile, Gillette had been mounting steam. Suddenly he exploded.

"I have been trying to get a report from the subcommittee for six months," he shouted. "This whole business has caused me a great deal of personal discomfort."

Sputtering and fuming, Gillette complained that the subcommittee hadn't consulted him but had "embarrassed" him by its handling of the Maryland investigation.

With a final roar, he announced that he was submitting his resignation as chairman of the Elections Committee.

Nebraska's GOP Sen. Ken Wherry urged him to reconsider.

"I hope this isn't the result of anything I have said about rushing the report," Wherry blurted.

Gillette then offered to tell Wherry or Rules Chairman Hayden of Arizona why he was quitting, but no one else.

Hendrickson also tried to talk Gillette out of resigning.

"I think it is a bad policy for anyone to resign. I have often wanted to resign myself. But we take on these responsibilities, and somehow we have got to carry them on," the New Jersey senator pleaded.

Hanley Probe Hushed

Significantly, however, Senators Smith of Maine and Hennings kept quiet. They offered no objections to Gillette's resigning.

Other colleagues of the likeable senator from Iowa have been surprised at his failure to push probes of certain significant developments during the last campaign, among them the letter written by Lt. Gov. Joe Hanley of New York explaining how Governor Dewey had promised him certain jobs in order to get him to withdraw as a candidate for governor of New York. In this letter, Hanley referred to money he had borrowed from Congressman Kingsland Macy which he later said was to settle an old family debt in Iowa.

Investigation by Senate agents showed there was no Hanley family debt in Iowa. However, no witnesses have been called by Senator Gillette. Governor Dewey has not been asked to testify, nor Kingsland Macy, nor Hanley himself. In fact, no hearings have been held at all, and Gillette seems inclined to drop the entire matter.

Today in Washington

Problem Is Posed for Commander of UN Forces on Whom to Address

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 5—Pitfalls in the wording of the messages exchanged thus far between the Communists in Korea and General Ridgeway have been noted by the government here but very soon the United Nations commander will wish to know what authority he is dealing with in arranging an armistice in Korea.

When General Ridgway broadcast his initial telegram of June 30 he addressed it to the "commander-in-chief of the Communist forces in Korea." When the reply came on July 2 it was signed by the "supreme commander of the Korean People's Army" and by the "Commander of the Chinese volunteer forces."

This posed a problem for the UN commander and he was instructed by Washington that he could, in his next message of reply (July 3), use either "commander of the Chinese Communist forces in Korea" or eliminate any titles and address his telegram to the two individuals—Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-huai—but that he could not use "commander of Chinese volunteer forces" because nobody here knew just what that meant. So General Ridgway decided to avoid any complications and send it to the two generals without any titles. The reply from the two generals on July 4 again used "commander of Chinese volunteer forces" as one of the titles.

But the point will come up when the formal meeting is held and each side presents its credentials. The UN commander will ask to be shown credentials and will not be satisfied with anything that does not have the authority of the Peiping regime.

It is significant that, in the first reply of July 2, the two Communist generals used this language: "We are authorized to inform you that we agree to meet your representatives for conducting talks concerning cessation of military action and establishment of peace."

By whom were the generals "authorized"? This is understandable in the case of Kim Il Sung because he is supposed to be the prime minister of the North Korean government, so presumably he was issuing orders to himself as commander-in-chief of the North Korean forces. But as for General Peng Teh-huai, who "authorized" him to send the message as obviously the "Chinese volunteer forces" have no standing as a government or regime?

One of the reasons the American government has ordered General Ridgway to ask to see credentials of the opposing commanders is that an armistice made with a group of "volunteers" could be repudiated by the Peiping regime any time in the future. Unless Communist authority in Peiping in some way assumes responsibility for what is being done by General Peng Teh-huai, there can hardly be any agreement that would assure the honoring of the armistice once hostilities are stopped.

Does the insistence on a Communist authority as a party to the negotiations mean recognition of the Communist government? Not at all. Dealings with belligerents in the past have not carried with them any political recognition whatsoever. All that is here recognized in a military sense is a Communist armed force and a North Korean armed force.

When the time comes to draw up armistice terms, the U.N. commander will insist that the line must be such as to prevent sudden movements by the forces of either side. Hence the 38th Parallel as a dividing line is out of the question. The final marking will be a zigzag drawing on the map with a demilitarized zone on both sides of the armistice line.

Most important in the negotiations will be the exact terms and method to be applied in assuring against recurrence of aggression, especially since the peace talks after the armistice are likely to be prolonged.

Time Is Ripe

Washington, July 4—The time is ripe politically, from the viewpoint of the Truman administration, to have peace in the Korean War—if Stalin will only oblige. Such an event, more than any other, could put a crimp in the political hopes of the Republicans in the controversy that has plagued the administration ever since President Truman became indignant over General MacArthur's letter to Republican leader, Martin, fired the Far Eastern commander, and precipitated a first-class row.

Certainly a "cease fire" or armistice in Korea would give the country something to be cheerful about. It would, of course, slow down the draft process and give relief to the many families which have sons at the front or are likely to have if the conflict keeps up. It would also slow down somewhat the spending program for arament but this would not be materially curtailed, because the administration will insist that continued outlays are necessary for preparedness as long-range insurance.

The fact that a patched-up peace may be temporary and might even accelerate the start of World War III, by inviting further aggression somewhere else besides Korea in the next few years, will be argued by the critics. Politicians here on both sides agree, however, that a "peace wave would be of immediate benefit to the administration politically. The hypothetical dangers of "appeasement" would be difficult to debate on the stump in face of an actual cessation of hostilities and the cry for "peace."

But, while eventual developments may prove the fallacy of a patched-up peace made now, the important fact politically is that "peace" shall extend at least beyond the 1952 campaign and election.

A patched-up truce would be defended on the ground that, if World War III is deferred, America's growing military strength would actually prevent or deter Russia from starting a third world war. The unsolved riddle of the age, however, is whether time works in favor of America or in favor of Russia. In fact, if Stalin make a truce now, it will be hailed as proof that he thinks his atomic stockpile will be big enough in three to five years to capitalize on the growing "neutralism" of Europe by disseminating threats to throw atom bombs at London, Berlin, Paris and Rome if America threatens to use any bombs on Russian cities to halt such Soviet aggression as may arise in Europe.

Most of the politicians here are not concerned with events that happen three or five years from today. They are concerned with the political situation right now and what it will be in the 16 months immediately ahead when a new president has to be elected.

At the moment, the administration's prestige is at a low point. The basic factors in the political situation today are the continuance of the Korean war, the impact of controls on the life of the individual citizen and his family, the rising cost of living and the way taxes are cutting down "take home" pay. Emotional relief from the casualty lists of war and a promise of peace could be powerful in swinging votes toward the administration. It's the kind of thing that usually tends to overcome the lesser irritations and grievances of the electorate.

So it's in the cards for the administration to figure out some way to bring the Korean war to a peaceful conclusion. Already, for two months now, the official propaganda has sought to condition the public to the idea that a "victory" in Korea is not essential and that our "objectives" can be attained by diplomacy after a "cease fire" is actually in effect. The "negotiations" through diplomatic channels might be deadlocked for years after the armistice is arranged.

But what does Stalin think? He's the man who holds the political fate of both our political parties in his hands. The threat of a hydrogen bomb which has now been publicized and the pressure of an economic blockade might persuade him to make a truce to gain time to see what he can do about building a hydrogen bomb himself. Besides, if peace comes, he will get needed raw materials for the build-up of his armament program. Maybe it's opportune, from a political and economic viewpoint, for Stalin to make peace. Stranger things have happened in the strange record of inconsistency and somersault that has characterized Soviet diplomacy in the last thirty years.

AN AIR FORCE ACADEMY

A bill before the House of Representatives would establish an Air Force academy which would be intended to have equal academic stature with the Military Academy at West Point and the Naval Academy at Annapolis. The school would confer college degrees and Air Force commissions on its graduates.

Proponents say the proposed academy is needed to provide a steady supply of regular officers for the Air Force. A fourth of the graduates of Annapolis and West Point now are detailed to serve in the Air Force, but the Army and Navy say they have need of all the graduates of their respective academies for the expanding defense program.

West Point and Annapolis have demonstrated that young men can be trained for careers in the services and can be given a well-rounded education as well. They have set high scholarship and behavior standards. A third academy, operated on equivalent standards, could be a credit both to education and to the Air Force.

The importance of air power is growing. This fact was recognized when the Air Force was given the status of an independent service. Its leaders doubtless believe that the establishment of its own academy is another essential step in the growth of the service to meet its role. There is much logic in this argument.

TEMPER FLARE-UPS

Although the days are past when heated debate on the floor of the Senate or the House of Representatives might lead to a duel between two of the debaters, there are still occasions when temper outbursts lead to fisticuffs. Two members of the House recently engaged in a scuffle in a corridor after an argument about an appointment that had been made. A clash between a member of Congress and a newspaper columnist attracted wide attention not long ago.

Members of Congress are only human. They have, like those who elected them, human irritability and temper. But engaging in brawls should be beneath the dignity of any man in such a high position. Schoolboys who cannot settle their differences peacefully and decide to fight in the corridors of the school are subject to reprimand, but their conduct can be partially excused because of their immaturity. Members of Congress can claim no such excuse.

TO START OR NOT

A new gadget for cars is announced which sounds much more useful than some already installed. This is a battery tester which may be mounted on the dashboard or the steering column and indicates immediately whether there is enough power to start the engine. This will be a great timesaver, and will appeal to motorists who wonder on cold winter mornings if they should keep stepping on the starter in the hope of hearing a welcome throb of the engine.

As sure as sunrise, however, on some cold morning when the indicator declares that the engine won't start the owner will try it anyway, just for luck, and out of sheer perversity the thing will start right off. After that the motorist will never quite believe the indicator, anyway.

CONSISTENCY

The accusation is sometimes made that a public figure has behaved inconsistently. This can be a valid complaint if the individual has varied from a position which he was pledged to keep as a matter of honor. But inconsistency is not necessarily a fault.

The late Senator Arthur Vandenberg was at one time an isolationist and later became an internationalist. Many other statesmen have started with one point of view and been led by circumstances and situations to another. The ability of the human mind to change and adopt new beliefs is valuable to a man in public life, as in private life. Often we confuse inconsistency and flexibility, and then may credit a stubborn man with being a man of determination. Emerson once wrote that "Foolish consistency is the hobgoblin of little minds."

'These Days'

FACT AND FICTION

It is not really important, so far as the Korean was in concerned, whether we call the troops who fought against us Chinese Communists or Chinese volunteers. It was Soviet China that on November 6 invaded Korea with the object of fighting the United States. As Dean Acheson put it, their object was to fight their way into the United Nations.

In a broader sense, the use of the term "volunteers" adds to all the new confusions that Soviet Russia has drawn from the Marxist Pandora's box. Instead of a country having allies, who are responsible, it calls for volunteers, which a nation may provide, without responsibility.

This concept appeared in the Spanish Civil War, the Fascists and Nazis supporting one side; Soviet Russia supporting the other. It was, in effect, an experimental war, each side testing its strength and methods against the other. The Fascists, Nazis and Communists were volunteers in that war; so were the airplanes, tanks, arms and munitions. When the anti-Communists won and the regime now headed by Franco was set up, neither Italy, Germany nor Russia assumed any responsibility.

Now this concept is being fictitously applied to the discussions concerning the Korean situation. Soviet China came into it as a volunteer. Although North Korea was defeated by General MacArthur, Soviet China entered the war, prolonged it, made an American victory impossible, created havoc within the United Nations, and now in fact, each individual Chinese soldier in that war was a volunteer.

The fiction is designed to eliminate, in whatever negotiations take place, Soviet China as an aggressor nation. It is astute reasoning on the part of the Soviets, but Soviet China should be held accountable for an international impropriety that cost American lives.

It is of importance at this moment to ask why the Korean war had to be prolonged. On March 24, General MacArthur spoke these words:

"Within the area of my authority as military commander, I stand ready at any time to confer in the field with the commander-in-chief of the enemy forces in an earnest effort to find any military means whereby the realization of the political objectives of the UN in Korea, to which no nation may take just exceptions, might be accomplished without further bloodshed."

On June 29, General Ridgway spoke these words::

"As commander-in-chief of the United Nations command, I have been instructed to communicate to you the following:

"'I am informed that you may wish a meeting to discuss an armistice providing for the cessation of hostilities and all acts of armed force in Korea, with adequate guarantees for the maintenance of such armistice.

"'Upon receipt of word from you that such a meeting is desired I shall be prepared to name my representative. I would also at that time suggest a date at which he could meet with your representative. I propose that such a meeting could take place aboard a Danish hospital ship in Wonsan harbor.'"

The spirit of the language is identical; the words are not far apart. The question therefore must be asked why General MacArthur was dismissed for doing what General Ridgway was instructed to do.

Obviously, some deal was being cooked up in March which General MacArthur spoiled by what apparently was a correct but, from the State Department's standpoint, premature statement.

The deal was undoubtedly wrecked by the MacArthur dismissal which, whatever other purposes it served, forced the administration to alter its publicly declared policies.

Now we are to enter upon prolonged negotiations with Soviet China on the very questions which Soviet Russia has been demanding since 1948. The questions may be summarized as follows:

1. To obtain a seat in the United Nations as the only recognized government in China;
2. To be permitted to occupy Formosa and to abolish the Nationalist government, headed by Chiang Kai-shek;
3. Succession to China's permanent seat on the Security Council of the United Nations;
4. The elimination of the United States from Asiatic affairs;
5. A seat at the conference for a treaty with Japan.

In pursuit of these policies, Soviet Russia boycotted the United Nations for six and one-half months. They conducted a world-wide phony peace campaign. They actually supplied a nation with the weapons of war, despite the assumption of the responsibility for that war by the United Nations. Having tested the persistence, if not the strength, of the United States, they have now assumed the peace offensive.

This is a moment of a show of real power in the diplomatic field. We ought not to lose again.

That Body of Yours

SOME CAUSES OF EXTREME SLEEPINESS

Most physicians, when they find a patient whose chief symptom is a desire to sleep most of his time, try to find some infection (teeth, tonsils, gums, gall bladder, large intestine). Dr. M. N. Pai (Belmont Hospital, Sutton) reports in the British Medical Journal a survey of patients in psychiatric hospitals with a wide variety of sleep disturbances. He makes a report based on a study of 67 male patients who complained of diurnal somnolence (drowsiness during which a patient is partially aware of what is happpening around him) or hypersomnia (a condition in which daily more hours are spent in sleep than in wakefulness.)

These personality studies and psychiatric investigations revealed that most of these patients had immature and inadequate personalities and had previously reacted to stress by developing mental and emotional symptoms. In each case they were not interested in their occupation, lacked suitable occupation, or were actually bored by it.

Excessive sleep and abnormal appetite, when found in the same patient, were due to different factors or conditions and both symptoms were manifestations of neurosis.

As an excessive desire for sleep may be due to pressure on the brain or to some gland disturbance, these conditions were investigated but neither condition was found in cases thoroughly examined.

Dr. Pai states that these sleep disturbances may be a form of hysteria. He points out that this extreme sleepiness and also unusual hunger are not due to disturbances of the front part of the brain as could be expected, because extreme sleepiness and hunger usually produce other well-known symptoms such as euphoria (feeling of bodily comfort,) loss of initiative (desire to work or start things) and changes in personality.

As stated above, most cases of extreme sleepiness, both day and night, are usually caused by infection which gradually increases in amount until the individual spends most of his time asleep. This means that infection as the cause of extreme sleepiness should be the first thought and a thorough search made for it. However, the fact that so many cases found in a mental hospital were caused by hysteria should be remembered as both infection and hysteria can be treated successfully.

Constipation

It has been estimated that more persons are constipated than are not. This may be a cause of sleepiness. Gillette in Huff

No announcement was made to the press, but Iowa's Democratic Sen. Guy Gillette angrily resigned as chairman of the Senate elections committee last week in a flare-up over the Maryland election probe.

The statuesque Gillette blew his top behind closed doors, shouting that he had been "embarrassed" and had suffered "personal discomfort" over the way the Maryland investigation had been handled. He also accused the Maryland subcommittee of failing to consult with him.

They have been probing the smear campaign that led to the defeat of veteran Sen. Millard Tydings and the election of the unknown Chicago Tribune-backed John Butler.

Gillette has been under pressure from the Chicago Tribune group to whitewash the Maryland probe—the same paper which helped engineer the smear campaign.

It was Hennings who brought up the Maryland matter behind closed doors of the full Senate Rules Committee. He complained that the Maryland subcommittee couldn't get out a report, because it lacked a counsel.

"These things (elections) have to be investigated, and the investigators have to be directed by counsel," Hennings insisted.

He pointed out that the House had blocked an attempt to hire Robert T. Murphy, a Washington attorney, as counsel, and that the committee was still relying on Gillette's friend and the former counsel. Ed McDermott, who was no longer on the payroll but spent his time flying between his law practice in Iowa and the committee in Washington.

"I am tired of fooling around with this committee without a counsel," the Missouri senator observed. "Senator Hendrickson and I are the only two lawyers on the committee, and we don't have time to go to the law libraries to do research."

Nebraska's GOP Sen. Ken Wherry urged him to reconsider.

"I hope this isn't the result of anything I have said about rushing the report," Wherry blurted.

Gillette then offered to tell Wherry or Rules Chairman Hayden of Arizona why he was quitting, but no one else.

Hendrickson also tried to talk Gillette out of resigning.

"I think it is a bad policy for anyone to resign. I have often wanted to resign myself. But we take on these responsibilities, and somehow we have got to carry them on," the New Jersey senator pleaded.

Hanley Probe Hushed

Significantly, however, Senators Smith of Maine and Hennings kept quiet. They offered no objections to Gillette's resigning.

Gov. Joe Hanley of New York explaining how Governor Dewey had promised him certain jobs in order to get him to withdraw as a candidate for governor of New York. In this letter, Hanley referred to money he had borrowed from Congressman Kingsland Macy which he later said was to settle an old family debt in Iowa.

Investigation by Senate agents showed there was no Hanley family debt in Iowa. However, no witnesses have been called by Senator Gillette. Governor Dewey has not been asked to testify, nor Kingsland Macy, nor Hanley himself. In fact, no hearings have been held at all, and Gillette seems inclined to drop the entire matter.

Reds Ban Red Noses

Vienna (AP)—The old-fashioned, red-nosed circus clown has been "purged" this spring from Communist Hungary. "The provincial enterprise for people's entertainment," said the Budapest newspaper "Magyar Nemzet" recently, "has made preparations to tour the country with its 11 circuses. But the programs of the circuses will be quite different from what they were before. The clowns, who wore red wigs, giant shoes and loose robes and who stultified the people will their hackneyed and stupid anecdotes will disappear."

Problem Is Posed for Commander of UN Forces on Whom to Address

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, July 5—Pitfalls in the wording of the messages exchanged thus far between the Communists in Korea and General Ridgeway have been noted by the government here but very soon the United Nations commander will wish to know what authority he is dealing with in arranging an armistice in Korea.

When General Ridgway broadcast his initial telegram of June 30 he addressed it to the "commander-in-chief of the Communist forces in Korea." When the reply came on July 2 it was signed by the "supreme commander of the Korean People's Army" and by the "Commander of the Chinese volunteer forces."

This posed a problem for the UN commander and he was instructed by Washington that he could, in his next message of reply (July 3), use either "commander of the Chinese Communist forces in Korea" or eliminate any titles and address his telegram to the two individuals—Kim Il Sung and Peng Teh-huai—but that he could not use "commander of Chinese volunteer forces" because nobody here knew just what that meant. So General Ridgway decided to avoid any complications and send it to the two generals without any titles. The reply from the two generals on July 4 again used "commander of Chinese volunteer forces" as one of the titles.

But the point will come up when the formal meeting is held and each side presents its credentials. The UN commander will ask to be shown credentials and will not be satisfied with anything that does not have the authority of the Peiping regime.

It is significant that, in the first reply of July 2, the two Communist generals used this language: "We are authorized to inform you that we agree to meet your representatives for conducting talks concerning cessation of military action and establishment of peace."

By whom were the generals "authorized"? This is understandable in the case of Kim Il Sung because he is supposed to be the prime minister of the North Korean government, so presumably he was issuing orders to himself as commander-in-chief of the North Korean forces. But as for General Peng Teh-huai, who "authorized" him to send the message as obviously the "Chinese volunteer forces" have no standing as a government or regime?

One of the reasons the American government has ordered General Ridgway to ask to see credentials of the opposing commanders is that an armistice made with a group of "volunteers" could be repudiated by the Peiping regime any time in the future. Unless Communist authority in Peiping in some way assumes responsibility for what is being done by General Peng Teh-huai, there can hardly be any agreement that would assure the honoring of the armistice once hostilities are stopped.

Does the insistence on a Communist authority as a party to the negotiations mean recognition of the Communist government? Not at all. Dealings with belligerents in the past have not carried with them any political recognition whatsoever. All that is here recognized in a military sense is a Communist armed force and a North Korean armed force.

When the time comes to draw up armistice terms, the U.N. commander will insist that the line must be such as to prevent sudden movements by the forces of either side. Hence the 38th Parallel as a dividing line is out of the question. The final marking will be a zigzag drawing on the map with a demilitarized zone on both sides of the armistice line.

Most important in the negotiations will be the exact terms and method to be applied in assuring against recurrence of aggression, especially since the peace talks after the armistice are likely to be prolonged.

Time Is Ripe

Washington, July 4—The time is ripe politically, from the viewpoint of the Truman administration, to have peace in the Korean War—if Stalin will only oblige. Such an event, more than any other, could put a crimp in the political hopes of the Republicans in the controversy that has plagued the administration ever since President Truman became indignant over General MacArthur's letter to Republican leader, Martin, fired the Far Eastern commander, and precipitated a first-class row.

Certainly a "cease fire" or armistice in Korea would give the country something to be cheerful about. It would, of course, slow down the draft process and give relief to the many families which have sons at the front or are likely to have if the conflict keeps up. It would also slow down somewhat the spending program for arament but this would not be materially curtailed, because the administration will insist that continued outlays are necessary for preparedness as long-range insurance.

The fact that a patched-up peace may be temporary and might even accelerate the start of World War III, by inviting further aggression somewhere else besides Korea in the next few years, will be argued by the critics. Politicians here on both sides agree, however, that a "peace wave would be of immediate benefit to the administration politically. The hypothetical dangers of "appeasement" would be difficult to debate on the stump in face of an actual cessation of hostilities and the cry for "peace."

But, while eventual developments may prove the fallacy of a patched-up peace made now, the important fact politically is that "peace" shall extend at least beyond the 1952 campaign and election.

A patched-up truce would be defended on the ground that, if World War III is deferred, America's growing military strength would actually prevent or deter Russia from starting a third world war. The unsolved riddle of the age, however, is whether time works in favor of America or in favor of Russia. In fact, if Stalin make a truce now, it will be hailed as proof that he thinks his atomic stockpile will be big enough in three to five years to capitalize on the growing "neutralism" of Europe by disseminating threats to throw atom bombs at London, Berlin, Paris and Rome if America threatens to use any bombs on Russian cities to halt such Soviet aggression as may arise in Europe.

Most of the politicians here are not concerned with events that happen three or five years from today. They are concerned with the political situation right now and what it will be in the 16 months immediately ahead when a new president has to be elected.

At the moment, the administration's prestige is at a low point. The basic factors in the political situation today are the continuance of the Korean war, the impact of controls on the life of the individual citizen and his family, the rising cost of living and the way taxes are cutting down "take home" pay. Emotional relief from the casualty lists of war and a promise of peace could be powerful in swinging votes toward the administration. It's the kind of thing that usually tends to overcome the lesser irritations and grievances of the electorate.

So it's in the cards for the administration to figure out some way to bring the Korean war to a peaceful conclusion. Already, for two months now, the official propaganda has sought to condition the public to the idea that a "victory" in Korea is not essential and that our "objectives" can be attained by diplomacy after a "cease fire" is actually in effect. The "negotiations" through diplomatic channels might be deadlocked for years after the armistice is arranged.

But what does Stalin think? He's the man who holds the political fate of both our political parties in his hands. The threat of a hydrogen bomb which has now been publicized and the pressure of an economic blockade might persuade him to make a truce to gain time to see what he can do about building a hydrogen bomb himself. Besides, if peace comes, he will get needed raw materials for the build-up of his armament program. Maybe it's opportune, from a political and economic viewpoint, for Stalin to make peace. Stranger things have happened in the strange record of inconsistency and somersault that has characterized Soviet diplomacy in the last thirty years.

Most bridge players have seen double dummy problems at some time or another. Those are the layouts in which you see everybody's cards and have to make weird plays to win the right number of tricks. Usually you wind up winning the final trick with a deuce in the enemy's best suit.

Such situations are, of course, very rare in actual play—but they do sometimes occur. Today's hand, played in a recent tournament, was one of these rare birds.

West opened the ace of clubs, a natural but unfortunate choice. South ruffed and returned a low diamond. West won and properly returned another club to make South ruff again.

Declarer next laid down the ace of diamonds and crossed his fingers as he ruffed a diamond in dummy. Fortunately for him, the suit broke 3-3, and his remaining diamonds were now established.

South continued by finessing the jack of spades and laid down the ace and king of trumps. Then he led the ten of diamonds.

East properly decided not to ruff. His best chance was to discard a heart. Thereupon South led his last diamond.

At this point West and the dummy were each down to two clubs and two hearts. West saw that a club discard by him would be copied by dummy, after which dummy would eventually win a trick with the king of hearts. Hence West discarded a heart, and dummy also discarded a heart blanking the king.

East had to ruff the last diamond and dared not lead clubs. He led his remaining heart, and West took dummy's blank king with the blank ace. This left South with the last trump and the last heart. The lowly three of hearts took the last trick.

Picked Up for Tie With Reefer Suspect

A parole violator was picked up Tuesday night because he was found in the company of a man who had once been suspected of selling marijuana or "reefers," local police revealed today.

Sydney Bates, 41, of Maple avenue, Hempstead, N. Y., was arrested at 10 p. m. Tuesday on a warrant executed by Detective Clarence Brophy and Parole Officer Oliver Tweedy on Ann street.

The police said Bates has a long police record and had been released from serving time only eight days before his arrest. When he was picked up here, the police said, he was with a man who had been questioned in Albany by federal narcotics agents on the suspicion that he had sold "reefers." The suspect was released for lack of specific evidence, however, the detective said.

Phoenicia Holds Celebration of Independence Day

The Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phoenicia was the scene for the second annual fireworks display which was held Tuesday evening.

The weather was ideal and before seven o'clock cars began to arrive as an entertainment was to begin at eight o'clock and last until dark enough to start the fireworks display. The state troopers and town constables with the uniformed firemen handled the traffic and directed the cars to the different parking areas. It was estimated that nearly 1,500 cars were in the area which overflowed to Route 28, state highway.

The entertainment was given by the following: Vocal solo by Miss Poschner, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett; Musical Glasses by Mr. Frederics and Mr. Collins; Yodeling Solo by Louis DeBon; Guitar Solo by Paul Miller; Vocal Solo by Miss Jacqueline Loomis. Chorus numbers were also rendered.

The many set pieces and aerial bomb bursts were seen for great distances around. The Niagara Falls and the American Flag seemed to be most popular displays.

The Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce, the M. F. Whitney Hose Co., and the Phoenicia Post of the American Legion wish to thank all who donated their talents and time for the grand success that it was. Also special thanks to the Krein and Dunham lumber companies for donations of lumber and to Raymond Kirk for the establishing of the sound amplification system. Also special thanks to Ed. Gormley for the trailer stage for the use of the entertainers.

It is hoped by the three organizations that this yearly Fourth of July celebration will continue to grow and help to instill in the youth of our community real Americanism.

Kingston Is Not Without Fireworks

Kingston and vicinity were apparently not without fireworks despite the state law which prohibits them except in public display, a series of police calls indicated yesterday.

Several calls to police headquarters during the night indicated that fireworks were being discharged in the downtown area and one at 10:15 p. m., said that a parachute of the fireworks variety had landed "a few feet short of a large oil tank on the Sleightsburg side of the Rondout creek."

Local police were notified of the parachute incident by Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro, who said he had answered a complaint that fireworks were being discharged in the vicinity of Sleightsburg.

The deputy said the parachute had been shot from an aerial type bomb near a sign on the city side of the creek. Officers George Loughran and William Hanley were dispatched to investigate and reported that the chute bomb had been fired by a group from New Jersey, who, when they found that fireworks were illegal, drove out of the city before the officers arrived.

Picked Up for Tie With Reefer Suspect

A parole violator was picked up Tuesday night because he was found in the company of a man who had once been suspected of selling marijuana or "reefers," local police revealed today.

Sydney Bates, 41, of Maple avenue, Hempstead, N. Y., was arrested at 10 p. m. Tuesday on a warrant executed by Detective Clarence Brophy and Parole Officer Oliver Tweedy on Ann street.

The police said Bates has a long police record and had been released from serving time only eight days before his arrest. When he was picked up here, the police said, he was with a man who had been questioned in Albany by federal narcotics agents on the suspicion that he had sold "reefers." The suspect was released for lack of specific evidence, however, the detective said.

Phoenicia Holds Celebration of Independence Day

The Simpson Memorial Ski Slope in Phoenicia was the scene for the second annual fireworks display which was held Tuesday evening.

The weather was ideal and before seven o'clock cars began to arrive as an entertainment was to begin at eight o'clock and last until dark enough to start the fireworks display. The state troopers and town constables with the uniformed firemen handled the traffic and directed the cars to the different parking areas. It was estimated that nearly 1,500 cars were in the area which overflowed to Route 28, state highway.

The entertainment was given by the following: Vocal solo by Miss Poschner, accompanied by Mrs. Bennett; Musical Glasses by Mr. Frederics and Mr. Collins; Yodeling Solo by Louis DeBon; Guitar Solo by Paul Miller; Vocal Solo by Miss Jacqueline Loomis. Chorus numbers were also rendered.

The many set pieces and aerial bomb bursts were seen for great distances around. The Niagara Falls and the American Flag seemed to be most popular displays.

The Phoenicia Chamber of Commerce, the M. F. Whitney Hose Co., and the Phoenicia Post of the American Legion wish to thank all who donated their talents and time for the grand success that it was. Also special thanks to the Krein and Dunham lumber companies for donations of lumber and to Raymond Kirk for the establishing of the sound amplification system. Also special thanks to Ed. Gormley for the trailer stage for the use of the entertainers.

It is hoped by the three organizations that this yearly Fourth of July celebration will continue to grow and help to instill in the youth of our community real Americanism.

Charge Is Dismissed

A charge of third degree assault against Frank Cosenza, 53, of 38 Henry street, was dismissed in city court today after the complainant failed to appear. Will Complete Work

Preliminary work on the moving of the second girder in place on the Broadway crossing project is expected to be completed by the end of the week and the actual moving is expected to start Monday, Henry Millonig, state engineer, said today. Work on the second girder, he said, will progress more rapidly.

Fire Is Extinguished

A minor fire on the Winfield Cole property, Ulster Park, on old Route 9W, was extinguished by a garden hose about 1 p. m. today before the arrival of firemen. According to the report, the fire was between the walls of the house and it was checked when one of the boards was removed. Little damage was reported.

Kingston Is Not Without Fireworks

Kingston and vicinity were apparently not without fireworks despite the state law which prohibits them except in public display, a series of police calls indicated yesterday.

Several calls to police headquarters during the night indicated that fireworks were being discharged in the downtown area and one at 10:15 p. m., said that a parachute of the fireworks variety had landed "a few feet short of a large oil tank on the Sleightsburg side of the Rondout creek."

Local police were notified of the parachute incident by Deputy Sheriff Earl Conro, who said he had answered a complaint that fireworks were being discharged in the vicinity of Sleightsburg.

The deputy said the parachute had been shot from an aerial type bomb near a sign on the city side of the creek. Officers George Loughran and William Hanley were dispatched to investigate and reported that the chute bomb had been fired by a group from New Jersey, who, when they found that fireworks were illegal, drove out of the city before the officers arrived.

Reports Loss of Wallet

Ralph Countryman, police department mechanic, reported at headquarters Tuesday that he had lost his police wallet in the vicinity of Foxhall avenue and Broadway. It contained $12 plus his chauffeur's license, badge and other papers.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Shreveport, La., July 3—A few months ago news leaked out of Angola Prison, a vast farm and cesspool of despair operated by the state of Louisiana, that 27 men had hamstrung themselves to attract public attention to the awful condition of their lives and to escape the routine of their American Buchenwald if only for a few days. Later five more men cut themselves, still later eight more cases were reported. The so-called hamstring is the Achilles tendon above the heel. It is a tough tendon and a man must be desperate to summon the nerve to cut it or let another cut it not only because of the pain but because, in addition, he will be crippled for life. The prison farm covers 17,000 acres, bounded largely by the Mississippi river and swamps.

Governor Earl Long, a brother of the late Huey, appointed a commission to "investigate" and the pallid report and recommendations of the body are now on record. It seems to have been a remarkably gutless body. The brutalities of the past are treated with restrained disapproval where any commission with appropriate spirit would have clamored for indictments and applied to the courts, and even might have appealed to public opinion outside Louisiana. The quavering findings of the committee, which had neither authority nor money, anyway, were too timid to command the slightest respect and a few days ago a Negro prisoner, a burglar, was shot through the head and killed by another Negro burglar, a guard, armed with a semi-automatic rifle. The dead man apparently was not misbehaving and the shooting seems to have been unprovoked.

It is hard to get information out of Angola. The place has had a traffic in narcotics carried on by inmates, and homosexuality was treated as an established phase of prison life in the committee's report. There have been recent reports of further hamstring mutilations.

A prisoner was stabbed to death as he lay asleep in the yard in daylight. A waiter, also a prisoner, was reported to have done this as his reply to criticism of the stew which had been served at lunch. The criticism of the stew seems to have been physical. Still another convict was beaten up by a guard and his jaw was broken.

Teh sheriff of the parish is a character named Ted Martin who once slugged Governor Long and, more recently, made a personal threat against a member of the "committee" and ran him off the investigation for the time being. He has over-all responsibility for law enforcement in the parish, including jurisdiction over the 17,000 acres of the prison farms and compounds. Martin had a sudden attack of official responsibility when a nurse employed in the prison told the committee how easy it was to buy narcotics from the inmates and, to prove it, went out and bought some and plunked it down for the honorable members to see. The sheriff then arrested her for illegal possession of narcotics. That charge presently evaporated. Martin was a member of the committee investigating his own conduct.

The nurse is Miss Mary Margaret Daughtrey. She is a native of Ireland. There is a rumor that she studied to become a Catholic nun but abandoned that intention. Miss Daughtrey denied this—a little heatedly, I thought—on the ground that any question on this point was an invasion of her privacy.

Nevertheless, the belief certainly is held by some and she appears to be a woman of unusual courage and devotion to sick and desperate humanity. It seems hard to imagine a more depressing and trying post of duty than the one which Miss Daughtrey held for seven and one-half years at Angola. She is now on private duty in Baton Rouge, and seems fed up with prison work, if only because it has been impossible to do anything for the victims of the system beyond little day by day assuagements.

The horrible despair of the 7,000 inmates, most of them Negroes, has been emphasized by Miss Daughtrey and the committee. On entering, they are not told what the rules are and may find themselves guilty of infractions which land them in horror camps. In one of these they sleep in wooden double-deck bunks on the wooden second-story of a firetrap building with a screen locked over the stairwell at night, like an old-time battle-grating on a man o' war. Unshaded lights glare all night and radios play much of the time.

The committee apparently meant to say that the bunks were lousy but faltered into simpering euphemisms.

Miss Daughtrey reported that one young prisoner who consulted the Catholic chaplain was slugged three blows on the head with a hickory bat and more blows over the arms and body as punishment. She and others also told of beatings of prisoners by means of a leather strap four inches wide, a quarter-inch thick and five or six feet long.

One case was related of a Negro prisoner who was spread-eagled with four men holding him and beaten with this strap by one of the free guards, a state employe, until the guard couldn't raise the lash. Then the guard's son did the same and, after he had wilted, the guard resumed the flogging until he was "worn out."

Leo B. Blessing, judge of the juvenile court of New Orleans, chairman of the committee to investigate Camp E, asked why the prisoner was flogged. The guard answered that the convict was a trusty employed as a servant in his home and had "brushed against" his daughter. Judge Blessing thought this might have been unintentional. The guard said it had happened before. Judge Blessing asked why the trusty had not been removed after the first incident. The guard's answer was "well, he shouldn't have done it."

"The wrong man was whipped," said Judge Blessing. Nobody has been prosecuted or even fired for any of this.

It is a tough tendon and a man must be desperate to summon the nerve to cut it or let another cut it not only because of the pain but because, in addition, he will be crippled for life. The prison farm covers 17,000 acres, bounded largely by the Mississippi river and swamps.

Governor Earl Long, a brother of the late Huey, appointed a commission to "investigate" and the pallid report and recommendations of the body are now on record. It seems to have been a remarkably gutless body. The brutalities of the past are treated with restrained disapproval where any commission with appropriate spirit would have clamored for indictments and applied to the courts, and even might have appealed to public opinion outside Louisiana. The quavering findings of the committee, which had neither authority nor money, anyway, were too timid to command the slightest respect and a few days ago a Negro prisoner, a burglar, was shot through the head and killed by another Negro burglar, a guard, armed with a semi-automatic rifle. The dead man apparently was not misbehaving and the shooting seems to have been unprovoked.

It is hard to get information out of Angola. The place has had a traffic in narcotics carried on by inmates, and homosexuality was treated as an established phase of prison life in the committee's report. There have been recent reports of further hamstring mutilations.

A prisoner was stabbed to death as he lay asleep in the yard in daylight. A waiter, also a prisoner, was reported to have done this as his reply to criticism of the stew which had been served at lunch. The criticism of the stew seems to have been physical. Still another convict was beaten up by a guard and his jaw was broken.

Teh sheriff of the parish is a character named Ted Martin who once slugged Governor Long and, more recently, made a personal threat against a member of the "committee" and ran him off the investigation for the time being. He has over-all responsibility for law enforcement in the parish, including jurisdiction over the 17,000 acres of the prison farms and compounds. Martin had a sudden attack of official responsibility when a nurse employed in the prison told the committee how easy it was to buy narcotics from the inmates and, to prove it, went out and bought some and plunked it down for the honorable members to see. The sheriff then arrested her for illegal possession of narcotics. That charge presently evaporated. Martin was a member of the committee investigating his own conduct.

The nurse is Miss Mary Margaret Daughtrey. She is a native of Ireland. There is a rumor that she studied to become a Catholic nun but abandoned that intention. Miss Daughtrey denied this—a little heatedly, I thought—on the ground that any question on this point was an invasion of her privacy.

Nevertheless, the belief certainly is held by some and she appears to be a woman of unusual courage and devotion to sick and desperate humanity. It seems hard to imagine a more depressing and trying post of duty than the one which Miss Daughtrey held for seven and one-half years at Angola. She is now on private duty in Baton Rouge, and seems fed up with prison work, if only because it has been impossible to do anything for the victims of the system beyond little day by day assuagements.

The horrible despair of the 7,000 inmates, most of them Negroes, has been emphasized by Miss Daughtrey and the committee. On entering, they are not told what the rules are and may find themselves guilty of infractions which land them in horror camps. In one of these they sleep in wooden double-deck bunks on the wooden second-story of a fire-trap building with a screen locked over the stairwell at night, like an old-time battle-grating on a man o' war. Unshaded lights glare all night and radios play much of the time.

The committee apparently meant to say that the bunks were lousy but faltered into simpering euphemisms.

Miss Daughtrey reported that one young prisoner who consulted the Catholic chaplain was slugged three blows on the head with a hickory bat and more blows over the arms and body as punishment. She and others also told of beatings of prisoners by means of a leather strap four inches wide, a quarter-inch thick and five or six feet long.

One case was related of a Negro prisoner who was spread-eagled with four men holding him and beaten with this strap by one of the free guards, a state employe, until the guard couldn't raise the lash. Then the guard's son did the same and, after he had wilted, the guard resumed the flogging until he was "worn out."

Leo B. Blessing, judge of the juvenile court of New Orleans, chairman of the committee to investigate Camp E, asked why the prisoner was flogged. The guard answered that the convict was a trusty employed as a servant in his home and had "brushed against" his daughter. Judge Blessing thought this might have been unintentional. The guard said it had happened before. Judge Blessing asked why the trusty had not been removed after the first incident. The guard's answer was "well, he shouldn't have done it."

"The wrong man was whipped," said Judge Blessing. Nobody has been prosecuted or even fired for any of this.

Boiceville Chapel Dedication Was Largely Attended

In spite of the weather on Sunday morning, July 1, Boiceville was the scene for a large gathering to witness a solemn rite of the Roman Catholic Church when the new chapel at Boiceville was dedicated as "The Chapel of Our Lady of LaSallette," and is a mission church of the parish of St. Francis de Sales of Phoenicia, with the Rev. Cornelius J. Hayes, M. S., as the resident rector.

The dedication exercises began when the Right Rev. Martin C. Drury of Kingston, the officiating prelate for the dedication, went around the church on the outside and blessed the walls. When this was finished the procession then entered the church and proceeded up the middle aisle where the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus stood as an honor guard and with drawn swords made a canopy for the procession to the altar and sanctuary.

The Right Rev. Henry O'Carroll of Newburgh was the celebrant of the Pontifical Mass and was assisted by the following: The Very Rev. Denis Monahan, M.S., arch priest, from Bloomfield, Conn.; the Rev. Patrick Durkin, M.S., of Bloomfield, Conn., deacon; the Rev. Thomas McNamara, M.S., of Bloomfield, Conn., sub-deacon; the Rev. William O'Brien, M.S., of Phoenicia, master of ceremonies; the Rev. Walter Rival, M.S., of Hartford, Conn., thurfier; the Rev. Joseph Bergen, M.S., of Bloomfield, Conn., bugia bearer. The Very Rev. John Gorman, M.S., of Hartford, Conn., preached the sermon and drew a simile of the setting of this new chapel in the hills of the Catskills with that of the grand Basilica at the site of the apparition of Our Lady of LaSallette to the two small children in France over 100 years ago.

The Right Rev. Stephen Connelly of St. Joseph's parish, Kingston, was in the sanctuary as well as the Right Rev. Joseph B. Scully, formerly of St. Mary's parish but now in New York city.

At the end of the ceremonies the pastor, the Rev. Cornelius J. Hayes, M.S., thanked all the donors and benefactors for the financial and other aid they had given him in establishing the new chapel in Boiceville.

Father Hayes also thanked the Sisters of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin for rendering the music and singing the responses for the solemn Mass. He also thanked the Fourth Degree Knights of Columbus for acting as an honor guard for the occasion. Joseph Brogan and James Quinn of Phoenicia, acted as acolytes.

Following the Mass and dedication ceremonies, the ladies of Saint Francis de Sales Church of Phoenicia served a turkey dinner to the visiting clergy in the parish hall.

WE REMEMBER GRANDMA

SUNDAY afternoons were always very quiet in Mexico, N. Y After church our family would drop over to Grandma's for our Sunday dinner. And during the afternoon we children, not being allowed to roughhouse, were made to sit quietly. So looking at Grandma's stereopticon became the "big" part of our day . . . with one exception . . . That was our Sunday evening snacks.

Cold meat, left over from our dinner, delicious country style beans that Grandma had baked the day before, a salad, homemade bread and, of course, a glass of milk.

Those were wonderful days to remember, in fact, even now our Sunday evening lunches remain the same . . . and the beans baked directly from the same recipe Grandma used when the stereopticon was the television of yesterday.

WE REMEMBER GRANDMA

SUNDAY afternoons were always very quiet in Mexico, N. Y After church our family would drop over to Grandma's for our Sunday dinner. And during the afternoon we children, not being allowed to roughhouse, were made to sit quietly. So looking at Grandma's stereopticon became the "big" part of our day . . . with one exception . . . That was our Sunday evening snacks.

Cold meat, left over from our dinner, delicious country style beans that Grandma had baked the day before, a salad, homemade bread and, of course, a glass of milk.

Those were wonderful days to remember, in fact, even now our Sunday evening lunches remain the same . . . and the beans baked directly from the same recipe Grandma used when the stereopticon was the television of yesterday.

Gets Aviation Trophy

New York, July 5 (AP)—Col. David C. Schilling, first man to make a non-stop trans-Atlantic flight by jet, has been awarded the Marmon Aviation Trophy in recognition of the feat. Schilling, who shot down 34 enemy planes in the U. S. Air Force in World War II, led the first jet crossing of the Atlantic in 1948 with several refueling stops. Last September he made the flight westward in 10 hours, refueling in the air. The award, made annually, is for outstanding achievements in international aviation.

N. Y. Has No Deaths

New York, July 5 (AP)—Not one accidental death resulted from holiday activities here during the 24 hours ended at midnight last night, police reported. The big town had no fire fatalities, no fatal accidents and no drownings in celebrating a "safe and sane Fourth." More than two and a half million people visited beaches. However, police added, 130 persons were injured in auto accidents and 15 suffered injuries as a result of fireworks.

Women are not allowed to serve on juries in 13 states of the Union.

Audit Is Being Made

New York, July 5 (AP)—Colonial Airlines, Inc., is having an independent audit made of the financial dealings of its former president, Sigmund Janas, Sr., the company says. Janas and the airline were named recently in two federal informations, each made up of 40 counts. They were accused of violating the Civil Aeronautics Act by giving free and reduced-fare rides on the airline. They also were charged with diverting $75,000 of company funds to improper uses. Federal authorities said most of the money was used by Janas personally.

Too Fat?

Ask Your Doctor about the latest medical discovery-WAFEX!

Which makes you lose excess FAT SAFELY without dieting—hunger

NO CALORIE COUNTING! NO DIETS! NO EXERCISES!

Your doctor probably knows about and approves of the latest, scientific way to get rid of ugly excess fat.

It is called Wafex, and one of the things your doctor likes about it is that Wafex is absolutely safe. It is not a drug but a food adjunct.

Wafex is the discovery of a group of New York doctors.

These doctors had been trying to solve the overweight person's most vexing problem—how to lose weight without dieting or hunger.

While these doctors realized that, except in those unusual cases of glandular obesity dieting was the best way to slim down, it had one serious drawback—hunger.

Many people, not being able to resist the hunger dieting caused, ate between meals or went off their diets entirely. And of course the excess fat returned.

What these doctors were seeking was a formula that would make dieting unnecessary by automatically preventing overweight folks from overeating—and at the same time, stop hunger.

They succeeded with Wafex.

WAFEX PROVED SAFE AND EFFECTIVE BY ACTUAL CLINICAL TESTS

The doctors tested Wafex clinically on a large group of really overweight people.

Men: Why not try Wafex, the natural way to take off excess weight that's neither good for you nor good to look at.

One Wafex Wafer has the hunger-satisfying capacity of 2 ham sandwiches, or 5 slices of white bread, or 4 eggs. Yet contains only 5 calories.

These people were instructed by the doctors not to go on any special diet, not to cut out any special foods. Just chew or suck a pleasant Wafex Wafer half an hour before meals, then sit down at the table and eat until satisfied.

The results were amazing. Every member of the group lost 8 to 20 pounds in a short time. In fact, weight losses were noted the very first week. Not one reported a single hunger moment.

PHYSICAL CHECKUPS MADE

During the tests the doctors carefully checked the physical condition of each person—took electrocardiograms—and found every one in excellent condition.

Wafex is truly a momentous discovery for overweight people—especially for those who dislike dieting, cutting out favorite foods or feeling hungry.

Your druggist or Health Food store has Wafex. Only $3 for month's supply.

MONEY BACK IF NOT PLEASED

If you aren't happy with the weight you lose after the very first bottle of Wafex your druggist will refund your money.

TUNA GOOD SOURCE OF PROTEINS

TUNA TETRAZZINI, a wonderful meatless treat that will help remedy the scarcity or the high price of meat.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Don't let the scarcity or high price of meat get you down. There are lots of other foods, more plentiful and less expensive, that can give your family the protein and sense of satisfaction they need to be strong and happy.

Canned tuna is as good a source of "complete" protein as meat and there is an abundant supply of it in our markets. In this unusually delicious recipe, tuna is combined with the new instant chicken cubes, milk, eggs and flour to produce a dish manfully supplied with top quality protein.

Tuna Tetrazzini
(6 servings)

One-half pound thin spaghetti, ¼ cup butter or margarine, ¼ cup flour, ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 teaspoon paprika, 5 instant chicken bouillon cubes, 1 cup water, 1 tall can evaporated milk, 1 7-ounce can tuna, flaked; 4 hard-cooked eggs, coarsely chopped; ½ cup minced green pepper, ¼ cup grated Parmesan cheese (optional).

Cook spaghetti in boiling salted water until tender; drain. Melt butter or margarine in top of double boiler; blend in flour, pepper and paprika. Add instant chicken bouillon cubes; crush and blend in. Add water and evaporated milk; stir over low heat until smooth and thickened. Cover; cook over hot water 10 minutes. Divide sauce in half; to ½ add spaghetti; blend well. Add tuna, eggs and green pepper to remaining sauce. Arrange spaghetti in serving dish; top with tuna mixture; sprinkle with grated Parmesan cheese. For a summer luncheon, deep sea chowder offers a protein rich treat.

Deep Sea Chowder
(6 Servings)

One-eighth pound fat salt pork, diced; 1 medium onion, chopped; 2 instant chicken bouillon cubes, 2 cups hot water, 3 medium potatoes, diced; ⅛ teaspoon pepper, 1 7-ounce can tuna, flaked; 2 cups milk, minced parsley.

Fry salt pork in saucepan until crisp and golden brown; drain on absorbent paper. Cook onion in salt pork drippings until soft but not brown. Dissolve instant chicken bouillon cubes in hot water; add with potatoes and pepper. Simmer until potatoes are tender (about 15 minutes). Add flaked tuna and milk; heat but do not boil. Garnish with parsley and crisp salt pork.

TOMORROW'S MENU

BREAKFAST: Orange juice, ready to eat cereal, poached eggs on toast, enriched toast, butter or fortified margarine, coffee, milk.

LUNCHEON: Toasted peanut butter and chili sauce sandwiches, cabbage and apple salad, sewed blackberries, cookies, iced tea, milk.

DINNER: Tomato juice, tuna Tetrazzini, cucumber salad, bread sticks or French bread, fresh fruit gelatin with crushed berries sauce, coffee, milk.

Curbs Traffic Trouble

Berlin (AP)—Berlin cops are trying to fast talk the city into traffic wisdom these days. The system is novel but is slowly getting results. Chief of Police Johannes Stumm picked out half a dozen glib patrolmen recently and assigned them to strategic traffic spots, equipped with microphones. The men operate the traffic signals in the usual way until a violator—pedestrian, auto or bicycle—commits a faux pas. They switch on their microphones and boom out the error.

Raw peanuts were part of emergency rations during World War 2 in British lifeboats.

Says Dollar Not Down

Oak Ridge, Tenn., July 5 (AP)—Secretary of the Treasury John W. Snyder says the American dollar has not depreciated. In an interview yesterday after presenting a defense bond "Minute Man" flag to the city of Oak Ridge, Snyder explained: "I don't feel sorry for the American dollar. The dollar is worth 40 per cent more today, per capita, than it was in 1939, taking into consideration the adjustments in taxes and wages." With the exception of groceries, he added, Americans get more for their money now than in 1939, and they get more value for the money they spend.

Ireland became a republic on April 18, 1949.

and that much of the present support for the Republican party came through patronage which was being handed out, and he said that with a Republican administration in power in the state the Democratic party was not in to good a position to reward its members. Garraghan said references to the Truman administration which are being made by Republicans were a "disgrace" and he said the action taken by Truman in the Korean situation indicated the strength and courage of President Truman. The MacArthur situation, he said, had caused many people to turn against the President but he asked all Democrats to forget their differences, get their feet on the ground and fight. In closing he stated that in his opinion if President Truman seeks re-election in 1952 he will again be elected. "The Republicans have no platform and never will," said Garraghan.

The election of Dusing was unanimous and in accepting the nomination he said he was very grateful to the party for its confidence in him and he would do all in his power to do a good job if elected.

Referred to Committee

There being no nomination for coroner that matter was referred to the committee on vacancies which consists of Robert Haver, Paul Sturger and Joseph Epstein.

The following were named delegates and alternates to the State Judicial Convention:

A. J. Cook, Francis Martocci, William Riseley, William A. Kelly, Robert Stapleton, Arthur B. Ewig, Bernard Culloton. Alternates are Philip Slutsky, N. Jansen Fowler, Isidore Sampson, John J. McCourt, Abraham Streifer and William A. Kaercher.

Patrick T. Murphy offered a resolution praising the "forthright action in Korea" which the President has taken and complimenting President Truman on his attempt to "bring order out of chaos."

A resolution offered by Charles A. Ryan expressing the condolence of the party to relatives of deceased members, was unanimously carried.

Thanks Delegates

Chairman Plunket, prior to adjourning the county convention and turning the meeting over to City Chairman John J. Carroll for the city convention, thanked the delegates for their attendance. He said that their interest spoke well for the future of the Democratic party "although now we are not in to good shape," and he said the Democratic party was and always had been the friend of the people. He said many of the things which had been brought to the people under Governor Al Smith, Herbert Lehman and Franklin D. Roosevelt while governor of New York state were still being enjoyed by the people and many of these benefits had been expanded by the opposing party, an indication that the Republican party recognized them as benefits. He said President Roosevelt had brought the country out of confusion and averted a panic and "never in the history of the United States has our country found such an era of prosperity." He referred to the insurance of bank savings and said the Democratic party was one of "action." Under its leadership the country had been transformed from a peace economy to a war economy with a speed that startled the dictators of the world. He said Truman had "refused to be pushed into war" in China. He said had we not fought in Korea we would have been forced to fight elsewhere and he defended the Korean action. He urged all to help "dispel the fog of propaganda" which is being circulated against the party and called upon Democrats to return the county and city to Democratic control through unity.

Hits Own Members

At the conclusion of his talk one of the delegates arose and asked how unity could be attained when a man who had three times been Democratic mayor of Kingston failed to attend the convention and he said a man who had made a "marvelous" run as Democratic candidate two years ago was not present.

At this point Plunket interrupted and called attention to the fact that the "three time mayor" had been invited to the convention and that the man who ran as Democratic candidate two years ago was in attendance at the convention.

City Chairman Carroll called the city convention to order and called on all to "stand up and fight harder this fall than ever before." He urged the delegates to take an interest in city and county affairs and fight to "dispel the fog of propoganda" which is being raised by opponents of the party.

Nominates McAndrew

William B. Byrne, former city treasurer, placed the name of Raymond S. McAndrew before the convention for mayor. Mr. Byrne said it was a distinct honor to address the convention, that while he was not a politician since he had been too busy in business for 50 years to engage in politics he had raised a family of six children and sent them through college, still after retirement he had accepted the appointment of city treasurer. As city treasurer he had been closely associated with McAndrew and had found him to be a man who was always willing to assist anyone, regardless of political faith. As city clerk McAndrew has been willing to work not only during hours but after hours, nights and on Sundays to give aid to those who sought his assistance. He said McAndrew served everyone regardless of politics.

The nomination was seconded by several including William A. Kaercher, Ray Heppner, Joseph Saccoman and others.

Accepts Nomination

In accepting the nomination McAndrew said he would conduct a good clean campaign and if elected would put a good, sincere, business administration back in the city hall. He pledged to make Kingston a better city to live and work in and said he would work for the election of the entire Democratic ticket.

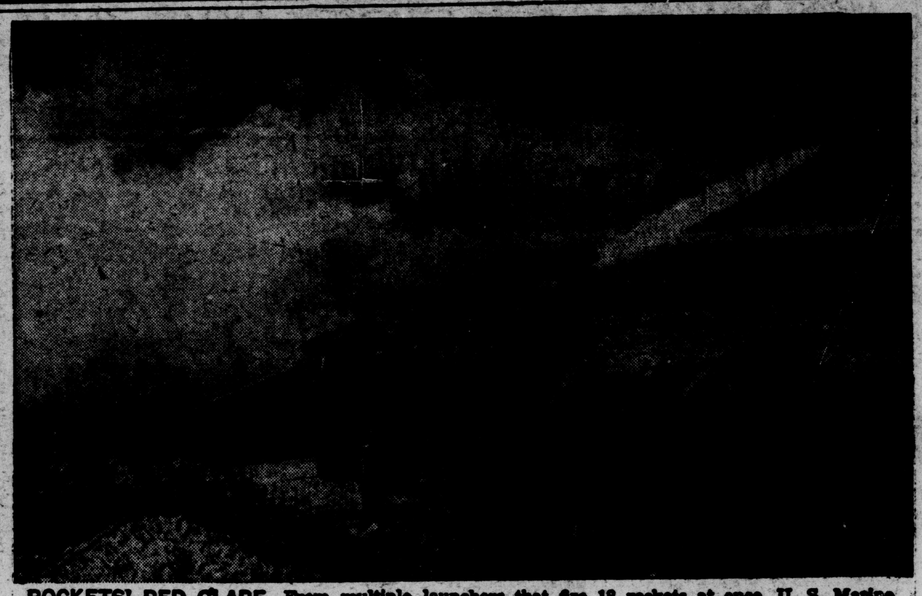
Richard Riseley then placed the name of Frederick C. Harder before the convention for alderman-at-large. He referred to the importance of the position and said Harder had such qualifications. Harder was born in the seventh ward, had been active in volunteer firemen circles in the county and for the past nine years had been secretary of the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association. He has served as president of Weiner Hose Company No. 6, for six years and served also as a fire commissioner for six years during the administration of Mayor Edelmuth. He is presently employed as manager of A. H. Gildersleeve & Son, having risen to that position during his 31 years of employment there. He is a member of the Knights of Columbus, is married and has two children. He lives at 34 Jarrold street. Riseley said Harder was eminently qualified for the position.

In accepting Harder said he would get behind the entire ticket and he felt sure the party could put the ticket across this fall, but it would be necessary to "convert a few Republicans." He said it was an honor to be on the same ticket with McAndrew.

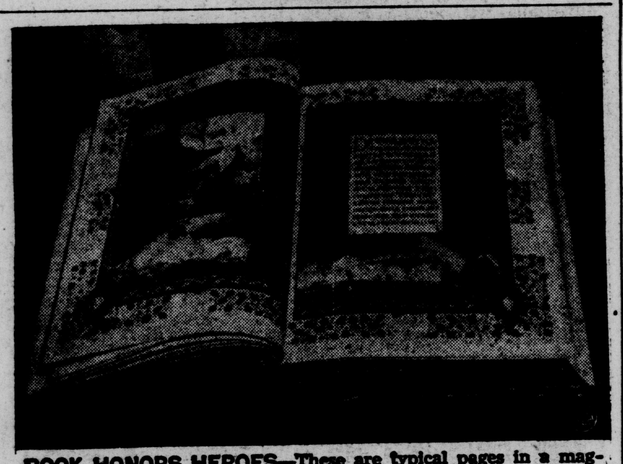
Joseph Epstein, Robert Zelie and Francis Martocci were named a committee on vacancies.

The convention then adjourned after Secretary Kelly spoke on central registration and absentee ballot procurement.

FLOATING ALONE—Capt. Norman N. E. Brocker, of the British forces in Korea, decided to take a nice cool dip after reading the headlines which read "All Quiet on Front." But being on the front himself, he wasn't ready to believe everything he reads, so he donned his steel helmet—just in case. Or anyhow, that's what the man said.



ROCKETS' RED GLARE—From multiple launchers that fire 18 rockets at once, U. S. Marine Corps rocket teams pour a rain of death on retreating Chinese Communist troops that attacked a Marine regiment in Korea. (Marine Corps photo from NEA.)



BOOK HONORS HEROES—These are typical pages in a magnificently illuminated Book of the American Dead, honoring U. S. personnel who were killed while based in Great Britain during the World War II. It contains an honor roll of 28,000 names. After being presented to the British people by Gen. Dwight Eisenhower, it will be placed on exhibition in the American Memorial Chapel, at St. Paul's Cathedral in London.

QUEEN KING—Comely Linda King, of Jasper, Ind., is the queen of the annual All-States Picnic at Ontario, Calif. The picnic is sponsored by the Federation of All States, composed of residents of states other than California who have settled in Ontario. Thousands of visitors are served at the "world's longest picnic table," two miles long.

AFTER TAXES—Newschart above shows that Americans spent almost half as much last year on alcoholic beverages as they laid out for shoes and clothing, according to Commerce Department figures. The $8,760,000,000 tab for 1950 was $210,000,000 more than in 1949. The report did not give volume sales for liquor, wines and beer, but showed there was an increase for the first time since 1947's all-time high. Other figures on Newschart compare amounts spent on other items of daily living with the eight-billion-dollar liquor bill.

Agrees Upon Aid

London, July 5 (AP)—Britain announced today it has agreed with the United States and France to extend economic aid to Yugoslavia. Foreign Secretary Herbert Morrison told the House of Commons Britain would put up about £10,000,000 ($28,000,000) of the aid. Informed sources said a total of about $150,000,000 would be given Marshal Tito's government by the three western powers. The United States probably will pay some 60 to 65 per cent of it.

Are Looking to Alaska

Washington, July 5 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and the National Geological Survey are looking to Alaska as a possible important source of uranium ores. Announcing today that it has set up an ore-sampling laboratory at the University of Alaska, the survey said it and AEC were sending reconnaissance parties on a summer-time search for "significant quantities" of uranium minerals in Alaska.

U. S. Troops Showered With Leaflets

Communist leaflets are showered on U.S. soldiers marching in July 4 ceremony in London, England, honoring 28,000 U.S. servicemen who died on duty in Britain during World War II. Names of the American dead were enshrined in an honor roll in bomb-scarred St. Paul's Cathedral. The leaflets, bearing the imprint of the London district of the Communist party, accused the U.S. of "Using British troops for cannon fodder" and asserted England has become a U.S. atom bomber base. Alexander Is in Hospital

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 5 (AP)—The Undersecretary of the army, Archibald S. Alexander, today was confined to an army hospital after his light plane crashed into a mountainside on the eastern war front. Both Alexander and his pilot, Major Walter J. Borden of San Antonio, Tex., were shaken and bruised. The crackup demolished their small plane yesterday. Alexander has been inspecting supply techniques.

USHERS' FAMILIES

This wedding detail ought to be more generally understood: "Is it necessary to invite all the parents of the ushers to the wedding and reception? I've thought it was but am told this is not the case."

It sounds very discourteous to omit them, but unless the wedding list is very general, the families of the ushers (especially when from other cities) are not necessarily included. It would, however, be very discourteous not to include the parents as well as grown brothers and sisters of the bridesmaids.

Side Dishes

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter tells me that when vegetables are served in little side dishes instead of on the dinner plate, they may be—or rather, should be she says—taken out of these dishes and put on the dinner plate. Is this true?

Answer: The vegetables should be taken out of these dishes when served to you in a restaurant. In a private house, if you should encounter this practice it would be best to do what you see your hosts do.

People Will Hear

Dear Mrs. Post: How is it possible to convey to our many friends and relatives that we're not having a wedding except for immediate families? When they receive the announcement they may feel they have been slighted.

Answer: On the theory that news travels, it is almost certain that everyone will hear from those who have been told, just how small the wedding was.

Wearing First Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a lovely jeweled wedding band from my first husband, deceased. I am now being married again. Is there any way I could continue to wear this jeweled band, or would such an idea be in bad taste?

Answer: If your husband would not mind (and you certainly are the best judge of this) you could wear the jeweled ring as a guard.

What does a bride-to-be need in her hope chest, and what does her trousseau consist of? Mrs. Post is sorry she cannot answer personal mail, but her leaflet E-5 includes a list of the essential linens and clothes for the bride-to-be. To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to her, care of The Kingston Daily Freeman, P.O. Box 99, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

Are Looking to Alaska

Washington, July 5 (AP)—The Atomic Energy Commission (AEC) and the National Geological Survey are looking to Alaska as a possible important source of uranium ores. Announcing today that it has set up an ore-sampling laboratory at the University of Alaska, the survey said it and AEC were sending reconnaissance parties on a summer-time search for "significant quantities" of uranium minerals in Alaska.

U. S. Troops Showered With Leaflets

Communist leaflets are showered on U.S. soldiers marching in July 4 ceremony in London, England, honoring 28,000 U.S. servicemen who died on duty in Britain during World War II. Names of the American dead were enshrined in an honor roll in bomb-scarred St. Paul's Cathedral. The leaflets, bearing the imprint of the London district of the Communist party, accused the U.S. of "Using British troops for cannon fodder" and asserted England has become a U.S. atom bomber base. (Picture by radio from London).

Alexander Is in Hospital

U. S. Eighth Army Headquarters, Korea, July 5 (AP)—The Undersecretary of the army, Archibald S. Alexander, today was confined to an army hospital after his light plane crashed into a mountainside on the eastern war front. Both Alexander and his pilot, Major Walter J. Borden of San Antonio, Tex., were shaken and bruised. The crackup demolished their small plane yesterday. Alexander has been inspecting supply techniques.

Only known potential sources of atomic energy are uranium, plutonium, and thorium.

Good Taste Today

by Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

USHERS' FAMILIES

This wedding detail ought to be more generally understood: "Is it necessary to invite all the parents of the ushers to the wedding and reception? I've thought it was but am told this is not the case."

It sounds very discourteous to omit them, but unless the wedding list is very general, the families of the ushers (especially when from other cities) are not necessarily included. It would, however, be very discourteous not to include the parents as well as grown brothers and sisters of the bridesmaids.

Side Dishes

Dear Mrs. Post: My daughter tells me that when vegetables are served in little side dishes instead of on the dinner plate, they may be—or rather, should be she says—taken out of these dishes and put on the dinner plate. Is this true?

Answer: The vegetables should be taken out of these dishes when served to you in a restaurant. In a private house, if you should encounter this practice it would be best to do what you see your hosts do.

People Will Hear

Dear Mrs. Post: How is it possible to convey to our many friends and relatives that we're not having a wedding except for immediate families? When they receive the announcement they may feel they have been slighted.

Answer: On the theory that news travels, it is almost certain that everyone will hear from those who have been told, just how small the wedding was.

Wearing First Wedding Ring

Dear Mrs. Post: I have a lovely jeweled wedding band from my first husband, deceased. I am now being married again. Is there any way I could continue to wear this jeweled band, or would such an idea be in bad taste?

Answer: If your husband would not mind (and you certainly are the best judge of this) you could wear the jeweled ring as a guard.

Aldermen Open

gested by Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk followed recommendations of state and county health officials, and others, is the subject to final approval of the water department. A letter from the Kingston Kiwanis Club supporting the proposal was read and filed.

A first reading was given the local law which would make the city less liable for injuries and damages suffered in falls on sidewalks. Two other readings are necessary before it can be enacted as a local law.

Must Notify BPW

The new law governing claims against the city for sidewalk falls provides among other new regulations that the claimant must first notify the Board of Public Works of any dangerous sidewalk condition, and that failure after such notice to improve conditions may be the basis of complaint.

A letter from Corporaion Counsel James G. Connelly presented the proposal that the Kingston Baseball Club Inc., be allowed to erect advertising signs not larger than four by eight feet on the snow fence along the outfield of the baseball diamond at the municipal stadium.

The letter said the signs would be removed at the end of the season and stressed that while the city now has an agreement with the education board that no advertising can be displayed on the score board at the ball park, there was no such restriction governing the fence and the advertising plan therefore would not be a violation of the agreement.

Transfer Authorized

The alderman authorized the transfer of title from the city to the education board on two parcels of land comprising Loughran Park and on a section of Marius street which became part of the George Washington School property.

The corporation counsel explained on the Loughran Park property that the title had been taken in the name of the city even though the consideration was paid by the education board. Under a new law, effective July 1, he said, the education board "becomes a separate body corporate."

The new law provides that school districts shall become vested with title to all real and personal properties used for educational purposes. His letter on the strip of Marius street transferred, explained that the section between Washington avenue and Wall street was discontinued as a street in 1947.

A resolution offered by Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel and seconded by James J. Carroll, 10th Ward, asking for extension of bus service in the Third Ward, was referred to the railroad and bus committee. The petition asking for the service contained 900 names.

The service requested would begin at Broadway and Foxhall avenue, extend over Prince street, Smith avenue and Grand streets to the area of Stephan, Hazel, Emerick and Farrelly streets, over Flatbush avenue, Clifton and Highland avenues, to East Chester street, to Broadway and back to Foxhall avenue and Broadway.

A summons and complaint following notice of claim filed Dec. 13, 1950 by Ethel M. Schleede, was referred to the corporation counsel. The amount sought is $2,500 for injuries in a fall on Fair street, Oct. 11, 1950.

Also referred to the corporation counsel was a claim for $30.25 filed by Justin Beck, of 15 Fairview avenue. He claims damages to his car due to a sunken spot on Lucas avenue on June 14.

To Pay Claim

On recommendation of the corporation counsel, the council voted to pay a claim of $500 to Wanda Hiltebrant, who said she suffered injuries in a fall on Pearl street on March 31, 1950. The recommendation followed an offer of settlement, and the claim was considered a just one, the corporation counsel said.

On similar recommendation Mary D. Short was allowed a claim of $450 for injuries suffered in a fall on a sidewalk on Wall street on Aug. 21, 1950. The offer of settlement appears to be "fair and equitable" after investigation, the letter said.

The council approved recommendation of the traffic committee and authorized a loading zone at 88 Broadway, restricted parking in front of the Wolf Funeral Home, 340 Broadway, established one-hour parking on both sides of Sterling street between Henry and Cedar streets, and on the west side of Hasbrouck avenue, beginning at the south curb on East O'Reilly street and along Hasbrouck avenue east for 270 feet.

Letters announcing the resignation of Seventh Ward Alderman J. Richard Smith, and the appointment of Joseph Rodden, 107 Hudson street, in his place, were read and filed. Alderman Smith said he felt it his duty to resign because he had accepted a position in another city and he felt he could no longer give sufficient time and attention to his duties as an alderman.

The aldermen voted Police Chief Raymond VanBuren permission, to attend the convention of the New York State Police Chiefs Association in New York on July 24, 25, and 26.

New List Voted

On recommendation of the Corporation counsel the council voted a new list of the city's depositories because the former list on record contained the name of the First National Bank of Rondout, which no longer exists as such. The list now contains the names of the Ulster County Savings, Kingston Trust, Rondout National, State of New York, and the National Ulster county banks.

A letter from Mrs. Ralph Ellsworth and Mrs. Gary Sutton, of the 13th Ward, objecting to the possibility of a junk and scrap yard locating on the former Colonial Coal & Oil Company property, was referred to the laws and rules committee. They were serving notice, they said, that they plan to take the "necessary action" to prevent the location of such a business there, and asked that until proper legal action can be taken that "such steps as necessary" be taken to protect the health and property of residents of the area.

VanKleeck Firm Designated to Help Keep Trucks Safe

The Everett VanKleeck and Company garage on the By-Pass has been designated as a "truck saving station" under a nation-wide truck conservation plan launched by International Harvester Company.

These designated "truck saving stations" will offer for a 90-day period free-of-charge inspection service for all International trucks. The program's aim is to keep trucks operating at peak efficiency through any national emergency.

Edward DeGroff, president of Everett VanKleeck and Company, Inc., explained, "it is our aim to help insure the Hudson valley area of the continued services performed for the community by International trucks."

The program, based upon truck conservation knowledge gained during World War, is designed not only to protect the investment of truck owners, but will also provide information for the dealer on which he can anticipate future new parts requirements. "This is important not only to truck operators but to International Harvester in its allotting of time, materials and manufacturing facilities to the manufacture of parts," DeGroff pointed out.

"By participating in International Harvester Company's national program, we hope to offer better service to truck owners by helping them to obtain better truck performance over a longer truck life. At the same time, it is expected that the program will reduce truck maintenance and down time costs, protect truck value and minimize delays in obtaining new parts," DeGroff said.

He pointed out that while demands on the services performed by trucks has increased greately during the last decade, the average age of the truck population was one and a half greater than in 1941. "Everything the people in the Hudson Valley eat, wear or use is handled at some time by truck. With our trucks older, on the average, and with our people placing greater reliance on their services than ever before, it is impartant that they be kept going at peak efficiency," DeGroff said.

Everett VanKleeck and Company, Inc., is one of 5,000 sales and service outlets in the organization that has joined the national program.

The U. S. truck fleet increased from 5.1 million in 1941 to 8.5 million in 1950, while total mileage increased from 55 billion in 1941 to more than 80 billion in 1950, according to DeGroff.

Appendectomy Made On Shah of Iran

Tehran, Iran, July 5 (AP)—An American doctor cut out Shah Mohammed Reza Pahlevi's appendix today and the 32-year-old ruler was reported resting comfortably.

A court official described the operation as "a simple appendectomy with no complications."

Four American and three Iranian doctors were present at the operation in Tehran's Bank Melli Hospital. The actual operation was performed by Dr. Frank Glenn, chief surgeon at New York Hospital.

The king, who has suffered for years from chronic appendicitis, summoned four doctors and three nurses from New York for the operation because he felt he could not leave his country during the oil crisis.

SEEMS PLUMB CRAZY—An unbelieving worker at site of a municipal housing development in St. Paul, Minn., stares at what appears to be outdoor indoor plumbing. Passersby at first thought it was something new in lampposts. Simple fact was that plumbers got ahead of carpenters and installed pipes and fixtures before the houses were up. There was some speculation on what would have happened if the roofers had gotten there first.

Four Are Convicted

New York, July 5 (AP)—Four ex-firemen were convicted Tuesday of shaking down fuel oil equipment installers in a $500,000-a-year city-wide racket. They were branded "racketeers in uniform" by a jury that took three hours and three minutes to find them guilty of 22 counts of conspiracy and extortion. The state alleged that the racket was hatched by a close pal of William O'Dwyer, when the present ambassador to Mexico was mayor of New York. Sentencing was set for July 31 and the four were imprisoned without bail to await their fate. They are James Keohane, 51, a former fire department captain; James P. Digney, 60, Harry C. Crew, 35, and James F. Smith, 53.

Will Build Terminal

New York, July 5 (AP)—Construction of an east side airways terminal serving LaGuardia and Idlewild Airports is ready to get underway, the Triborough Bridge and Tunnel Authority said yesterday. At the same time, Paul H. Brattain, first vice president of Eastern Air Lines, said arrangements soon may be completed for a similar west side terminal near the Lincoln Tunnel to serve Newark, N. J., airport. The authority said it, the city of New York, and 10 major airlines serving the metropolitan area have signed final contracts for the financing, construction and leasing of the east side terminal. It will be built in Manhattan next to the Queens Midtown Tunnel.

Autos Are Barred From Section of City

Hanson, Mass., July 5 (AP)—Automobiles have been barred from a section of Hanson and residents warned to remain indoors as much as possible until six stolen bottles of a top secret liquid explosive are found.

Police said 12 bottles of the liquid were stolen Monday night from the Hanover plant of the National Fireworks Co. and tossed from a speeding car by three teen-aged youths.

An intensive search of the area resulted in the recovery of six of the bottles last night.

State and local police continued their search today for the other stolen bottles which, officials say, contain a concoction which if spilled and allowed to dry could be ignited by the slightest friction.

Three youths were quoted by police as saying they took the bottles from the plant, not knowing they contained such a powerful explosive.

Four persons, including three state policemen, were injured Tuesday in an explosion at the plant as they were investigating the burglary.

The plant is engaged in the manufacture of ammunition for the government.

Farmers' Social Security Returns

July is the month for farmers with regular hired help to file social security tax returns for the April, May and June quarter, George J. Johnson, manager of Kingston Social Security Administration office, said today. Regular hired help is defined as a worker on a farm or in a farm household who meets both of the following conditions:

(1) He must have been employed by the farmer continuously for a full calendar quarter. No tax is due for argicultural labor performed in this qualifying quarter.

(2) In the next quarter he is employed by the same farmer in agricultural labor on a full time basis for at deast 60 days, and his cash wages for these services are $50 or more.

Farm owners and operators who have regular hired help and have not yet registered for filing the quarterly social security tax returns should do so immediately, said Johnson, in order that they may get on the mailing list for receiving tax forms automatically every quarter.

Regular farm hands who have never had social security account numbers or who have lost their social security cards should apply for new ones or duplicates as the case may be, said Johnson.

A woman who does housework in a farm household is considered the same as a hired hand as far as reporting for social security purposes is concerned. In other words, she must meet the same requirements as a hired man to be considered regularly employed.

For those hired farm workers who meet the requirements of the new law this government insurance provides monthly payments to them and their dependents when the workers retire after reaching age 65 and payments to their families when they die.

Farmers' Social Security Returns

July is the month for farmers with regular hired help to file social security tax returns for the April, May and June quarter, George J. Johnson, manager of Kingston Social Security Administration office, said today. Regular hired help is defined as a worker on a farm or in a farm household who meets both of the following conditions:

(1) He must have been employed by the farmer continuously for a full calendar quarter. No tax is due for argicultural labor performed in this qualifying quarter.

(2) In the next quarter he is employed by the same farmer in agricultural labor on a full time basis for at deast 60 days, and his cash wages for these services are $50 or more.

Farm owners and operators who have regular hired help and have not yet registered for filing the quarterly social security tax returns should do so immediately, said Johnson, in order that they may get on the mailing list for receiving tax forms automatically every quarter.

Regular farm hands who have never had social security account numbers or who have lost their social security cards should apply for new ones or duplicates as the case may be, said Johnson.

A woman who does housework in a farm household is considered the same as a hired hand as far as reporting for social security purposes is concerned. In other words, she must meet the same requirements as a hired man to be considered regularly employed.

For those hired farm workers who meet the requirements of the new law this government insurance provides monthly payments to them and their dependents when the workers retire after reaching age 65 and payments to their families when they die.

THE KREMLIN LORDS

Predicting the meaning of political events these days is precarious business. What does the Korean cease-fire proposal indicate? All communistic propaganda carries a lot of guile and falsehood. What constructive action can be safely built on that?

Nevertheless, the very promise of partial cessation of military hostilities set off a series of deflationary moves in the United States. Commodity prices declined. Cotton, sugar and wheat sold off and a dozen other staples followed suit.

War preparedness is tremendously bolstering our domestic economy. Great armies of industrial workers are earning big wages and working overtime to get out the sinews of war. The kind of prosperity all of this activity promotes can boomerang quickly.

What if, for once, the Communists are honest and forthright? Will large segments of our national economic life be adequately prepared for such an event? The answer is no. And even if the Communists are still up to their old tricks, the time will come when the powerful free world will bear down on them and a cease-fire will be forced upon them.

I stress again this week the ephemeral nature of our present war-stimulated prosperity. Half a dozen key industries are benefitting thereby. About 50 per cent of America's steel production is going into defense support and maintenance.

During 1950 about 100-million tons of steel were turned out. This was almost twice national production in 1939 when World War 2 started and more than 10 per cent higher than during the peak war year, 1944.

Steel capacity is now around 115-million tons a year and expansion is still progressing. Why do I stress these facts? Because steel greatly stimulates many other industries—building, electrical and agricultural equipment, railroad, railroad equipment.

The evil men in the Kremlin, then, have a lot to say about the status of our economy. If they send out doves of peace, deflation may set in. If this proves to be a mirage, inflation will continue.

Such bewildering and conflicting currents of possible political action will keep the security markets uncertain for an indefinite period. However, as I have inferred here, I do not think it wise policy for most investors to get entangled with the war-ridden prosperity stocks.

No stock, perhaps, better epitomizes what I am driving at than United States Steel common. This enterprise is a giant. This one corporation turns out about as much steel as the Russian communistic empire. Last year, Big Steel did $3,000,000,000 of business and in 1951 it will do considerably more.

Who should own such a stock? Why, investors of means who can afford such a very interesting risk. United States Steel has a yearly productive capacity of around 35-million tons. It is the world's largest producer and its empire includes railways to cart the materials, mines to furnish the ore and ships to carry the finished products.

Now, if steel demands hold up, if the workers are fair and efficient, if the tax collectors will show some sympathy to the stockholders, then Big Steel common will be an interesting stock to own. But there are three big IFS.

That is why the investor who needs 5 or 6 or 7 per cent on an investment of $1,000 had better go slow in buying such equities.

The price gyrations of U. S. Steel common and a score of like war-stimulated equities rest in the laps of the gods—the man in Moscow, in Washington and in the mines and plants where men work. Wages and prices and taxes completely circumscribe the economic prosperity of such enterprises.

It is better for most investors to search out the equities of corporations doing better over the years because they are not so tied up with business cycles.

Says Stamps Stolen

New York, July 5 (AP)—A wholesale stamp dealer says an expert thief took British colonial stamps valued tentatively at $40,000 from his apartment yesterday while he and his wife spent the holiday at the beach. The dealer, Eugene Fisch, 53, of Richmond Hill, Queens, conducts his stamp business by mail from his apartment. He told police the theft apparently had been committed by an expert in philately—who took only the choicest items from a large collection. No other valuables were missing, Fisch said, including a diamond ring in plain view on a dresser near the rifled stamp cabinet.

Asks Force of 25,000

New York, July 5 (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy has recommended a 25,000-man New York city police department with a sizeable pay rise for officers of all ranks. Murphy, who steps down as commissioner tomorrow to become a federal judge, made his suggestions yesterday in a 64-page report. Urging the need for more than 5,000 new policemen, the report notes that the present quota of 19,978 is about 2,200 short.

THE KREMLIN LORDS

Predicting the meaning of political events these days is precarious business. What does the Korean cease-fire proposal indicate? All communistic propaganda carries a lot of guile and falsehood. What constructive action can be safely built on that?

Nevertheless, the very promise of partial cessation of military hostilities set off a series of deflationary moves in the United States. Commodity prices declined. Cotton, sugar and wheat sold off and a dozen other staples followed suit.

War preparedness is tremendously bolstering our domestic economy. Great armies of industrial workers are earning big wages and working overtime to get out the sinews of war. The kind of prosperity all of this activity promotes can boomerang quickly.

What if, for once, the Communists are honest and forthright? Will large segments of our national economic life be adequately prepared for such an event? The answer is no. And even if the Communists are still up to their old tricks, the time will come when the powerful free world will bear down on them and a cease-fire will be forced upon them.

I stress again this week the ephemeral nature of our present war-stimulated prosperity. Half a dozen key industries are benefitting thereby. About 50 per cent of America's steel production is going into defense support and maintenance.

During 1950 about 100-million tons of steel were turned out. This was almost twice national production in 1939 when World War 2 started and more than 10 per cent higher than during the peak war year, 1944.

Steel capacity is now around 115-million tons a year and expansion is still progressing. Why do I stress these facts? Because steel greatly stimulates many other industries—building, electrical and agricultural equipment, railroad, railroad equipment.

The evil men in the Kremlin, then, have a lot to say about the status of our economy. If they send out doves of peace, deflation may set in. If this proves to be a mirage, inflation will continue.

Such bewildering and conflicting currents of possible political action will keep the security markets uncertain for an indefinite period. However, as I have inferred here, I do not think it wise policy for most investors to get entangled with the war-ridden prosperity stocks.

No stock, perhaps, better epitomizes what I am driving at than United States Steel common. This enterprise is a giant. This one corporation turns out about as much steel as the Russian communistic empire. Last year, Big Steel did $3,000,000,000 of business and in 1951 it will do considerably more.

Who should own such a stock? Why, investors of means who can afford such a very interesting risk. United States Steel has a yearly productive capacity of around 35-million tons. It is the world's largest producer and its empire includes railways to cart the materials, mines to furnish the ore and ships to carry the finished products.

Now, if steel demands hold up, if the workers are fair and efficient, if the tax collectors will show some sympathy to the stockholders, then Big Steel common will be an interesting stock to own. But there are three big IFS.

That is why the investor who needs 5 or 6 or 7 per cent on an investment of $1,000 had better go slow in buying such equities.

The price gyrations of U. S. Steel common and a score of like war-stimulated equities rest in the laps of the gods—the man in Moscow, in Washington and in the mines and plants where men work. Wages and prices and taxes completely circumscribe the economic prosperity of such enterprises.

It is better for most investors to search out the equities of corporations doing better over the years because they are not so tied up with business cycles.

Says Stamps Stolen

New York, July 5 (AP)—A wholesale stamp dealer says an expert thief took British colonial stamps valued tentatively at $40,000 from his apartment yesterday while he and his wife spent the holiday at the beach. The dealer, Eugene Fisch, 53, of Richmond Hill, Queens, conducts his stamp business by mail from his apartment. He told police the theft apparently had been committed by an expert in philately—who took only the choicest items from a large collection. No other valuables were missing, Fisch said, including a diamond ring in plain view on a dresser near the rifled stamp cabinet. w

Asks Force of 25,000

New York, July 5 (AP)—Police Commissioner Thomas F. Murphy has recommended a 25,000-man New York city police department with a sizeable pay rise for officers of all ranks. Murphy, who steps down as commissioner tomorrow to become a federal judge, made his suggestions yesterday in a 64-page report. Urging the need for more than 5,000 new policemen, the report notes that the present quota of 19,978 is about 2,200 short.

Inmates Have Fun

Boston, July 5 (AP)—There was no independence in the Independence Day celebration at state prison yesterday but the inmates sure had fun. The 609 inmates, including 130 lifers guzzled 1,200 quarts of lemonade and orangeade as they enjoyed all-day yard privileges. A baseball game was the feature of an athletic program following dinner which was topped by a half chicken. Four men condemned to die for murder ate a similar meal in their cells.

KRUMVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown of Modena called at the Brown home on Krumville-Samsonville road Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Katie Davis attended the graduation at Kingston High School last week. Her grandson, Robert Davis of Hurley, was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andersen and son, Eric, who have been spending some time in the Borchardt bungalow, have moved to their own home on the Olive Bridge road.

Word has been received that Marie Babcock, formerly a local pupil, was an honor graduate at a school in New Jersey.

Historian Appointed

Albany, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—William G. Tyrrell, a Columbia University history instructor, today was appointed historian in the offic of the state historian at $4,710-a-year.

20,000 Pound Bomb Load

"This is how the 20,000 pound bomb load of the B-50 is carried and unloaded" Technical Sergeant Kucharski is explaining to Pvt. Newton, right, and Technical Sergeant Paul Turner, center. These men are assigned to the Exhibit Unit that will display the Lucky Lady on America's "Main Streets" until 1953 when it will be placed in the Smithsonian Institute. Trained technicians from the Unit accompany the plane to explain its operation and answer questions of the spectators.—(Released by the United States Air Force Exhibit Unit, Public Information Office, Wright-Patterson AF Base, Dayton, Ohio.)

Air Force Display At Academy Green Wednesday, July 11

The Air Force displays which are scheduled for exhibit here on July 11th, will be set up at Academy Green on Albany avenue from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. City officials approved the site today according to Kenneth Pratt, chairman for the Civil Air Patrol Squadron Committee, which is sponsoring the local stop-over of the Air Force planes and equipment, in cooperation with the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The first and only plane to circle the globe non-stop, a B-50 bomber, is highlighted in the exhibit. Providing fighter cover for the huge medium bomber will be the fuselage of one of our most modern jet fighters, the F-84 Thunderjet.

The body of the fighter has been modified to let spectators peer into the cockpit and view the flight controls and instruments. The right side of the fuselage has been replaced with a plexiglass window which reveals the placement of the giant J-35 engine, gas storage tanks and interior construction features of the plane which is in the 600-mile-an-hour speed class.

Also visible will be the six .50 calibre machinegun stinger. Provisions for as many as 32 five-inch rockets or 2,000 pounds of bombs together with radar equipment have made the Thunderjet an effective fighter, fighter-bomber and general purpose interceptor.

The Republic-built fighter has a range of over 1,000 miles with external wing fuel tanks and can fly at altitudes of over 45,000 feet. Dimensions of the fighter are wingspan 36 feet five inches, length 37 feet three inches and height 12 feet 10 inches. Its maximum take-off weight is 16,000 pounds.

Although the F-84 is not our newest jet fighter it has proven its worth in Korea's tactical air operations.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

The spotlight will be on hot-weather specials in most retail food stores this week-end.

With prices of most red meats holding steady, storekeepers are playing up the season abundance of such things as summer fruits, fresh vegetables and frying chickens, along with foods like canned citrus juices which are in heavy supply because of the competition from their counterparts in the fresh-foods departments:

Here are some of the items being specially proomted for today (Thursday), tomorrow and Saturday by larger supermarket chains and independents:

Biggest Food Bargains

The week-end's biggest food bargains, aside from such advertised specials as these, will probably be found on the produce shelves, sales managers said. In some cities, truck garden items like radishes, squash and some late spring greens were reported being dumped just before the July 4th holiday because their market prices weren't high enough to justify the cost of crating and shipping.

Agriculture Department market analysts said the week-end would find more varieties of freestone peaches available, and at lower prices in most places (up to now the bulk of the supply has been in types favored for canning). Also likely to be lower-priced: cantaloupes, fresh corn, peppers, tomatoes, lettuce, plums and nectarines.

Beef Picture Unchanged

The beef supnply picture remained about unchanged, with sales of the higher-priced cuts slow. One large chain slashed sirloin steak 18 cents a pound earlier this week in the Philadelphia area and a week-end reduction of four cents on sirloin and other choice steaks was planned by a New York chain. The latter said it couldn't get enough of the less costly cuts, especially round roast, to meet demand, while better steaks and roasts were "dragging.

The long uptrend in top grade egg prices appeared to have been arrested at least temporarily this week although scattered increase of a cent or two were reported in some marketing areas. Butter was up one cent a pound in a few places.

Broilers, Fryers Stressed

The Agriculture Department stressed broiler and fryer chickens and processed citrus products this week as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying. Note that these items also are among those planned for special promotion by stores in several cities. Some eastern chains trimmed fryers as much as six cents a pound.

The department, in a study of consumer spending, said this week that prices of a representative group of foods climbed eight per cent in the first three months this year compared with the last three months of 1950—yet shoppers spent only six per cent more for all foods.

"This indicates that expenditures for food rose less than retail prices and affords some evidence that consumers were economizing on their expenditures for food by buying smaller quantities, fewer meals in restaurants or by some other means," the report said.

However, despite this slight slowdown in food buying, Americans were still eating better than before World War 2. Food buying took 27 per cent of consumers' income in the first quarter this year. But if consumers had been content with the same amount and quality of food this year as they were during the 1935-39 period, it would have taken only 20 per cent of their income.

Three Hurt in Chase

Roslyn, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—A police chase of three 15-year-old boys in a speeding car ended abruptly yesterday when their auto crashed into a tree and injured the trio. Police said the youths admitted holding up 30 service stations in the past six weeks for a total loot of about $2,500. A radio car patrolman fired two shot during pursuit of the speeding car which at times was clocked up to 90 miles per hour.

Inmates Have Fun

Boston, July 5 (AP)—There was no independence in the Independence Day celebration at state prison yesterday but the inmates sure had fun. The 609 inmates, including 130 lifers guzzled 1,200 quarts of lemonade and orangeade as they enjoyed all-day yard privileges. A baseball game was the feature of an athletic program following dinner which was topped by a half chicken. Four men condemned to die for murder ate a similar meal in their cells.

"SCHULER'S POTATO CHIPS ...are a SURE hit with me!"

KRUMVILLE

Krumville, July 3—Ruth Jacobsen celebrated her ninth birthday Tuesday afternoon. She entertained several of her friends and classmates.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Brown of Modena called at the Brown home on Krumville-Samsonville road Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Katie Davis attended the graduation at Kingston High School last week. Her grandson, Robert Davis of Hurley, was one of the graduates.

Mr. and Mrs. Carl Andersen and son, Eric, who have been spending some time in the Borchardt bungalow, have moved to their own home on the Olive Bridge road.

Word has been received that Marie Babcock, formerly a local pupil, was an honor graduate at a school in New Jersey.

Historian Appointed

Albany, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—William G. Tyrrell, a Columbia University history instructor, today was appointed historian in the offic of the state historian at $4,710-a-year.

20,000 Pound Bomb Load

"This is how the 20,000 pound bomb load of the B-50 is carried and unloaded" Technical Sergeant Kucharski is explaining to Pvt. Newton, right, and Technical Sergeant Paul Turner, center. These men are assigned to the Exhibit Unit that will display the Lucky Lady on America's "Main Streets" until 1953 when it will be placed in the Smithsonian Institute. Trained technicians from the Unit accompany the plane to explain its operation and answer questions of the spectators.—(Released by the United States Air Force Exhibit Unit, Public Information Office, Wright-Patterson AF Base, Dayton, Ohio.)

Air Force Display At Academy Green Wednesday, July 11

The Air Force displays which are scheduled for exhibit here on July 11th, will be set up at Academy Green on Albany avenue from 1 p. m. to 10 p. m. City officials approved the site today according to Kenneth Pratt, chairman for the Civil Air Patrol Squadron Committee, which is sponsoring the local stop-over of the Air Force planes and equipment, in cooperation with the Kingston Chamber of Commerce.

The first and only plane to circle the globe non-stop, a B-50 bomber, is highlighted in the exhibit. Providing fighter cover for the huge medium bomber will be the fuselage of one of our most modern jet fighters, the F-84 Thunderjet.

The body of the fighter has been modified to let spectators peer into the cockpit and view the flight controls and instruments. The right side of the fuselage has been replaced with a plexiglass window which reveals the placement of the giant J-35 engine, gas storage tanks and interior construction features of the plane which is in the 600-mile-an-hour speed class.

Also visible will be the six .50 calibre machinegun stinger. Provisions for as many as 32 five-inch rockets or 2,000 pounds of bombs together with radar equipment have made the Thunderjet an effective fighter, fighter-bomber and general purpose interceptor.

The Republic-built fighter has a range of over 1,000 miles with external wing fuel tanks and can fly at altitudes of over 45,000 feet. Dimensions of the fighter are wingspan 36 feet five inches, length 37 feet three inches and height 12 feet 10 inches. Its maximum take-off weight is 16,000 pounds.

Although the F-84 is not our newest jet fighter it has proven its worth in Korea's tactical air operations.

Weekly Food Review

(By The Associated Press)

The spotlight will be on hot-weather specials in most retail food stores this week-end.

With prices of most red meats holding steady, storekeepers are playing up the season abundance of such things as summer fruits, fresh vegetables and frying chickens, along with foods like canned citrus juices which are in heavy supply because of the competition from their counterparts in the fresh-foods departments:

Here are some of the items being specially proomted for today (Thursday), tomorrow and Saturday by larger supermarket chains and independents:

Biggest Food Bargains

The week-end's biggest food bargains, aside from such advertised specials as these, will probably be found on the produce shelves, sales managers said. In some cities, truck garden items like radishes, squash and some late spring greens were reported being dumped just before the July 4th holiday because their market prices weren't high enough to justify the cost of crating and shipping.

Agriculture Department market analysts said the week-end would find more varieties of freestone peaches available, and at lower prices in most places (up to now the bulk of the supply has been in types favored for canning). Also likely to be lower-priced: cantaloupes, fresh corn, peppers, tomatoes, lettuce, plums and nectarines.

Beef Picture Unchanged

The beef supnply picture remained about unchanged, with sales of the higher-priced cuts slow. One large chain slashed sirloin steak 18 cents a pound earlier this week in the Philadelphia area and a week-end reduction of four cents on sirloin and other choice steaks was planned by a New York chain. The latter said it couldn't get enough of the less costly cuts, especially round roast, to meet demand, while better steaks and roasts were "dragging.

The long uptrend in top grade egg prices appeared to have been arrested at least temporarily this week although scattered increase of a cent or two were reported in some marketing areas. Butter was up one cent a pound in a few places.

Broilers, Fryers Stressed

The Agriculture Department stressed broiler and fryer chickens and processed citrus products this week as most-plentiful foods for thrifty buying. Note that these items also are among those planned for special promotion by stores in several cities. Some eastern chains trimmed fryers as much as six cents a pound.

The department, in a study of consumer spending, said this week that prices of a representative group of foods climbed eight per cent in the first three months this year compared with the last three months of 1950—yet shoppers spent only six per cent more for all foods.

"This indicates that expenditures for food rose less than retail prices and affords some evidence that consumers were economizing on their expenditures for food by buying smaller quantities, fewer meals in restaurants or by some other means," the report said.

However, despite this slight slowdown in food buying, Americans were still eating better than before World War 2. Food buying took 27 per cent of consumers' income in the first quarter this year. But if consumers had been content with the same amount and quality of food this year as they were during the 1935-39 period, it would have taken only 20 per cent of their income.

Three Hurt in Chase

Roslyn, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—A police chase of three 15-year-old boys in a speeding car ended abruptly yesterday when their auto crashed into a tree and injured the trio. Police said the youths admitted holding up 30 service stations in the past six weeks for a total loot of about $2,500. A radio car patrolman fired two shot during pursuit of the speeding car which at times was clocked up to 90 miles per hour.

Mary E. Droulette Becomes the Bride Of Henry L. Sauer

Miss Mary Eunice Droulette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Droulette, 49 Smith avenue, and Henry Louis Sauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sauer, Mt. Marion, were married Sunday, July 1, at 2:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, this city. The Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor of that parish, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, while the bride's cousin, Miss Winifred Entrott, sang Panis Angelicus, and Ave Maria. Decorations at the church included white gladioli, white carnations, and white bow markers on the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant gown fashioned with Chantilly lace bodice, long-pointed sleeves, and a nylon tulle skirt. Her wreath of mother-of-pearl orange blossoms was fastened to an illusion veil of fingertip length, and she carried a prayer book covered with white roses, lilies-of-the-valley, and a shower of white delphinium.

A reception for the immediate families followed at The Alpine. The couple then left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. For traveling the bride wore an aqua summer suit, with white accessories, and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Sauer will make their home at 199 Pearl street.

Mrs. Sauer is a graduate of St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, New York. Mr. Sauer served for four years during World War 2 with the U. S. Army. He is now employed by R. C. Feller, general contractor, of Poughkeepsie.

Miss Viola Bilyou Is Married Here

Miss Viola Bilyou of 50 Andrew street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bilyou of this city, and Christian Spalt of 9 Andrew street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Spalt, of this city, were married Sunday, June 24, at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts street. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m. by the Rev. Ivan Gossoo of that congregation.

The couple was attended by Miss Agnes Reis, and William Dougherty, brother-in-law of the groom. Prior to the ceremony, John McCullough sang Because, and O Promise Me. Following the ceremony he sang The Lord's Prayer.

A reception was held for the immediate families at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Crawford Shader, 23 Levan street. The couple then left for their wedding trip to New York and New Jersey. They will make their home at 9 Cross street.

Mary E. Droulette Becomes the Bride Of Henry L. Sauer

Miss Mary Eunice Droulette, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Droulette, 49 Smith avenue, and Henry Louis Sauer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Sauer, Mt. Marion, were married Sunday, July 1, at 2:30 p. m. in St. Joseph's Church, this city. The Rev. John D. Simmons, assistant pastor of that parish, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

Traditional organ music was played by Mrs. Frank Rafferty, while the bride's cousin, Miss Winifred Entrott, sang Panis Angelicus, and Ave Maria. Decorations at the church included white gladioli, white carnations, and white bow markers on the pews.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a bouffant gown fashioned with Chantilly lace bodice, long-pointed sleeves, and a nylon tulle skirt. Her wreath of mother-of-pearl orange blossoms was fastened to an illusion veil of fingertip length, and she carried a prayer book covered with white roses, lilies-of-the-valley, and a shower of white delphinium.

Mrs. Ralph Sisco of 151 Pine street was matron of honor. Mrs. Sisco's gown was of apple green nylon marquisette over taffeta. She wore a matching picture hat of horsehair and tulle, and carried a cascade bouquet of salmon colored gladioli with baby's breath.

A reception for the immediate families followed at The Alpine. The couple then left for a wedding trip to Niagara Falls. For traveling the bride wore an aqua summer suit, with white accessories, and a white rose corsage. Mr. and Mrs. Sauer will make their home at 199 Pearl street.

Mrs. Sauer is a graduate of St. Vincent's Hospital School of Nursing, New York. Mr. Sauer served for four years during World War 2 with the U. S. Army. He is now employed by R. C. Feller, general contractor, of Poughkeepsie.

Miss Viola Bilyou Is Married Here

Miss Viola Bilyou of 50 Andrew street, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bilyou of this city, and Christian Spalt of 9 Andrew street, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John Spalt, of this city, were married Sunday, June 24, at Trinity Methodist Church, Wurts street. The double ring ceremony was performed at 2:30 p. m. by the Rev. Ivan Gossoo of that congregation.

The couple was attended by Miss Agnes Reis, and William Dougherty, brother-in-law of the groom. Prior to the ceremony, John McCullough sang Because, and O Promise Me. Following the ceremony he sang The Lord's Prayer.

A reception was held for the immediate families at the home of the bride's sister, Mrs. Crawford Shader, 23 Levan street. The couple then left for their wedding trip to New York and New Jersey. They will make their home at 9 Cross street.

Highland Girl Has Broken Leg

Edith Phillips, 17, of Highland, received a fractured right leg Wednesday afternoon when struck by a car after alighting from a bus. Her condition at St. Francis Hospital, Poughkeepsie, was reported good today.

State Police at Highland made an investigation and reported the accident happened about 4 p. m. two miles north of Highland when a Plymouth sedan operated south by Joseph Basillo, 33, 56 Sassafras avenue, Paterson, N. J., struck the young woman. The Basillo car was following a car ahead when the pedestrian alighted from a bus on the opposite side of the road and proceeded from the easterly side of the road toward the west.

Police reported Miss Phillips stepped in front of the Basillo car and was knocked down. Dr. Carl Meekins of Highland treated the injuries at the scene and Miss Phillips then was taken to the hospital.

Collision Reported

The cars of Cornelius Ryan of 257 Greenkill avenue, Kingston, and Arthur Cull of 93 Bleecker street, Jersey City, N. J., collided on Route 32 near the DeWitt Mills intersection. The accident was reported to the sheriff's office where it was stated the collision had taken place while one car was attempting to pass the other on a hill and had cut in too quickly. There were no personal injuries and some property damage.

Man Is Injured In Barrel Blast

Francis Jackson, 35, of 120 Hasbrouck avenue, suffered a laceration of the forehead and other injuries, when a tar barrel exploded at Buck's junk yard when he was removing its top with a torch late this morning.

Police were notified at 11:15 a. m. and dispatched a Conners ambulance to convey him to Kingston Hospital where it was indicated this afternoon that his condition was not serious.

Officer Carl Janasiewicz and Deputy Sheriff Carl Cline and Anthony Alecca, who were near the scene, administered first aid pending arrival of the ambulance. Police Headquarters also dispatched Officers Edward Leonard, Elbert Soper, Leonard Ellsworth and Gurnsey Burger to the scene, because of the many calls received on the explosion.

Jackson's physician said that considerable tar was blown into the eyes as a result of the explosion, which, it is believed, was caused by some type of fumes in the barrel.

With Kelly at the time were his three sons, Thomas E. Kelly, 15, James Jr., 9 and Robert John Kelly, 4.

All four passengers in the car were injured and taken to the Kingston Hospital by the W. N. Conner ambulance service. County Investigator Leonard Belmore, County Identification Officer Arthur Brown and Deputy Sheriffs Arthur Smith and James Marano investigated.

James F. Kelly, Sr., and Robert Kelly were treated at the accident room and then released. The condition of Thomas E. Kelly was reported good today and that of James Kelly, Jr., as fair.

Colonials Re-Schedule Fireworks Show After Stadium Game Tonight

Locals Rally to Beat Ruggers; Drop Holiday Contest by 8-6

That ancient baseball adage, the game is never over until the teams are safely back in the club house, was probably never more clearly defined than right here in Kingston Tuesday night when the Colonials, trailing by 10 to 0, suddenly came to life and by the time the last half of the ninth inning was completed, the locals had won their first start in the second half of the Canadian-American League by 11 to 10.

A big eighth inning rally for nine runs and a two-run uprising in the ninth frame did the trick. Fans who left the stadium seats as Kingston trailed 10-0 missed the greatest of all Frank Merriwell finishes. The rally couldn't have been more impressive if Hollywood had written the script.

Rain Halts Display

Yesterday's holiday twin-bill was cut to one game in the afternoon due to rain. Kingston was edged out by Pittsfield, 8-6, in the opener. The fireworks show, scheduled after Wednesday night's tilt, will be held tonight at the stadium following the getaway game between the Colonials and the Pittsfield Electrics.

The Colonials sent up 14 batters in the hectic eighth inning of Tuesday's game here with Amsterdam. Every man in the lineup scored once as the Amsterdam flingers came up with eight walks and a pair of wild pitches. Mixed in with these were vital singles by Joe Niro and Nick Marino. Niro also doubled in his second turn at the plate for the Colonials.

Then in the ninth with the score 10-9, Charlie Aspromonte walked. Dennis Healey, attempting to sacrifice, bunted safely through the charging infielders between the mound and first. Jack Bickett, Kingston's new first sacker, duplicated Healey's trick and the bases were loaded. Marino's loft to center scored Aspromonte and the bases were again loaded on Lou Kramberg's intentional pass.

With Steve Krall hurling for the Rugmakers Sam Piancentino fanned but Niro worked Krall for a walk to force in the winning run.

Lou Paz was the losing hurler while Piacentino who pitched one inning, got the win.

Vince Canepa, the usual reliable righthander, started for Kingston and went six innings. He was conked for eight hits, including Frank Wehner's homer and seven runs. Jack Ormiston worked the seventh and eighth while Acting Manager Piacentino took over on the hill in the ninth.

In Wednesday's holiday game Pittsfield bumped Charlie Ayers for five runs in the first two frames before pint-sized Tony Piacente came on in the second. Pittsfield pushed over three more in the third to complete its scoring for the day.

Kingston tallied a pair or runs in the first, one in the second and fifth and two more in the eighth before losing 8-6.

Piacente was cuffed for three runs in the third but then settled down and hurled five scoreless innings before Jack Ormiston relieved him in the ninth.

COLONIAL CAPERS . . . Kingston wasted numerous opportunities in the afternoon tilt Wednesday by leaving 15 runners stranded. Piacente looked impressive after a shaky start and may be of some help to the locals . . . The holiday arclight game was called off about 7:30 with a few hundred fans already in the stands. . . . Kingston picked up 19 walks in the Amsterdam game Tuesday night. Oh, those bases on balls. . . . Pickett played his first two games in a local uniform and went one for nine. . . . Bill O'Brien, the other newcomer, pulled off two sensational one-hand running catches. . . . Piacentino, in his one inning of relief hurling Tuesday night, struck out one and gave up a single walk. . . . Charlie Ruddock's homer for Amsterdam in Tuesday's first inning was his seventh of the campaign. . . . Tonight's getaway game with Pittsfield is scheduled for 8 o'clock. The big fireworks show will follow.

Lucky Chief by Nose

Westbury, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Lucky Chief came from sixth place in the stretch last night to win the featured Bill of Rights pace at Roosevelt Raceway by a nose over Harold Abbe with Scott Blackstone close up to the leaders for third. Even money favorite, Lucky Chief returned $4.00, $2.90 and $2.40 across the board, and was timed in 2:05 3/5. Of the seven horse field, six closed in a blanket finish. Don Miller drove the winner.

Trautman Rules Against Shift

Schenectady, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—George Trautman held today that the Watertown and Auburn baseball teams could not leave the Border League to join the Canadian-American circuit, it was reported today.

Albert E. Houghton, president of the Canadian-American League, said Trautman, head of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (minors), had telephoned him from Columbus, Ohio.

Two teams have dropped out of the Border League, leaving only four in the Class C circuit, and there has been talk that the league would fold.

Border Loop Awaits Call by President

Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Continuance of the Class C Border Baseball League presumably hung today on whether loop president John G. Ward would call a meeting of all clubs to draft a new four-team schedule.

The Watertown Athletes and the Auburn Cayugas, both of whom voted to withdraw from the border circuit and applied for franchises in the Canadian-American League, asked Ward yesterday to call the league meeting.

Ward, who lives here, could not be reached immediately for comment.

He had ordered the two clubs to play each other a series of games beginning yesterday and running through July 9. But they refused.

The temporary schedule was designed to even the two clubs in games with the other two border teams, the Kingston, Ont., ponies, and the Ogdensburg Maples. The latter teams have been playing each other since Watertown and Auburn withdrew to join the Can-Am.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors), disapproved on Tuesday the request by Watertown and Auburn to switch to the six-team Can-Am circuit, also a Class C league.

Athletic Program Held, Refreshments Served

Wednesday afternoon in Block Park a crowd of approximately 1,000 people gathered to participate in the second annual Johnny's 50 Club Field Day sponsored by the club after which the event has been named. It was inaugurated in 1950, and is primarily for children who reside in the 6th and 7th Wards but many an adult gets as much enjoyment out of watching the kiddies perform as the kiddies do in performing.

The main events of the day are the races and other events but to many the secondary features consisting of free ice cream, peanuts, soda and hot dogs prove more popular than anything else. The festivities were started as Tom Coughlin welcomed all to the park and then turned the microphone over to Judge John M. Cashin who spoke on the value this event is to the City of Kingston and how it is a major step in the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Faulkner Cops First

Darlington, S. C., July 5 (AP)—Pint-sized Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., pushed his huge Grand Special racer in front of the field here yesterday to capture the $5,000 first prize money in the 250-mile Fourth of July big car race at International Raceway. The five foot four Faulkner, speeding well ahead of the field after the 31st lap, took the biggest bite out of the $20,000-plus prize money distributed on a percentage basis after figuring gate receipts from a crowd of 18,000.

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Gloversville Glovers topped the standings for the second half of the Canadian-American League's split schedule after rain had hit hard at holiday doubleheaders.

Only two of the six scheduled games were played yesterday.

The Glovers defeated the visiting Amsterdam Rugmakers, 4-3, in a tilt called at the end of five innings because of rain, and the Pittsfield Electrics beat the Kingston Colonials, 8-6.

Rained out were the Oneonta-at-Rome afternoon game, the Rome-at-Oneonta night meeting, and the second Gloversville-Amsterdam and Pittsfield-at-Kingston contests.

The winner of the second half will play Oneonta a single game for the pennant.

In the second-half standings, the Glovers has won one and lost none. Kingston and Pittsfield each have won one and lost one. Rome dropped one, and Amsterdam has lost two.

On Tuesday, Oneonta shut out Pittsfield, 1-0, on righthander Paul Aylward's four-hitter; Kingston beat Amsterdam 11-10, and Gloversville edged Rome, 4-3.

Gloversville topped Amsterdam yesterday with a three-run explosion in the fourth on three walks, a sinble and Bob Carlson's double. At Kingston, Charles Ruddock, Pittsfield shortstop, banged a homer in the first with one aboard.

In Repeat Show

Wimbledon, England, July 5 (AP)—Dick Savitt of South Orange, N. J., and Ken McGregor, the Australian Davis Cupper with the big service, will give a repeat performance tomorrow (Friday) in the final of the All-England tennis championship. Sun-bronzed Dick and tall, curly-haired McGregor, fought their way through to the final of the Australian championship last winter. Savitt, the former Cornell University captain, won it in four sets. Now the pair come face to face again in the second of the Big Three of world amateur tennis tournaments. Australia, Wimbledon and the U. S. championships form the grand slam.

Sports of the Day

New York—Pancho Segura of Ecuador retained his National Professional Tennis Championship at Forest Hills, defeating Richard Gonzales of Los Angeles, 6-3, 6-4, 6-2.

Goshen, N. Y.—Mighty Fine from the Hayes Fair Acres Stables, Duquoin, Ill., won the $10,000 historic-Dickerson Cup for three-year-old trotters at Goshen's half-mile track.

Inglewood, Calif. — Citation ($3.50) won the $50,000 American Handicap at Hollywood Park and earned $33,050, to boost his all time winnings to $985,760.

Santa Barbara, Calif. — The Rev. Bob Richards of the Illinois A. C. won the 1951 National AAU Decathlon Championship.

Darlington, S. C.—Walt Faulkner of Long Beach, Calif., won the 250-mile big car auto race at Darlington International Raceway.

Talbert Debuts, Wins

Cincinnati, July 5 (AP)—The Fourth of July produced little or no fireworks at the annual Tri-state tennis tournament—at least as far as upsets were concerned. The seeded players yesterday continued their march toward the stage at which they'll have to begin playing each other. Most of the competition centered in the men's and women's doubles. High spot of the few singles matches was the first appearance of top-seeded Billy Talbert of New York. Talbert polished off Jerry Gilbert, of Dayton, O., 6-1, 6-1, to catch up with the rest of the field.

1,000 Enjoy Field Day July 4 Sponsored by 50 Club at Block

Athletic Program Held, Refreshments Served

Wednesday afternoon in Block Park a crowd of approximately 1,000 people gathered to participate in the second annual Johnny's 50 Club Field Day sponsored by the club after which the event has been named. It was inaugurated in 1950, and is primarily for children who reside in the 6th and 7th Wards but many an adult gets as much enjoyment out of watching the kiddies perform as the kiddies do in performing.

The main events of the day are the races and other events but to many the secondary features consisting of free ice cream, peanuts, soda and hot dogs prove more popular than anything else. The festivities were started as Tom Coughlin welcomed all to the park and then turned the microphone over to Judge John M. Cashin who spoke on the value this event is to the City of Kingston and how it is a major step in the prevention of juvenile delinquency.

Contests Held

Immediately after the short talk by Judge Cashin the events were started by Andy Murphy, III, city superintendent of recreation with the judge, Joe Kelly, alderman-at-large and Sherwood Davis acting as judges. Frank Sass and Frank Kiwus were starters. The results of the field and running events were as follows:

Pony Rides for Children

Festivities were closed with the awarding of prizes by Tom Coughlin, Dutch Uhl and Jack Sass. Prior to the events Frank Albright, former popular Kingston lightweight boxer, had his pony at the park and many of the kiddies enjoyed riding Smokey, especially the little ones from the Children's Home, who came in a busload to take part in the field day.

Faulkner Cops First

Border Loop Awaits Call by President

Ogdensburg, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Continuance of the Class C Border Baseball League presumably hung today on whether loop president John G. Ward would call a meeting of all clubs to draft a new four-team schedule.

The Watertown Athletes and the Auburn Cayugas, both of whom voted to withdraw from the border circuit and applied for franchises in the Canadian-American League, asked Ward yesterday to call the league meeting.

Ward, who lives here, could not be reached immediately for comment.

He had ordered the two clubs to play each other a series of games beginning yesterday and running through July 9. But they refused.

The temporary schedule was designed to even the two clubs in games with the other two border teams, the Kingston, Ont., ponies, and the Ogdensburg Maples. The latter teams have been playing each other since Watertown and Auburn withdrew to join the Can-Am.

George Trautman, president of the National Association of Professional Baseball Leagues (the minors), disapproved on Tuesday the request by Watertown and Auburn to switch to the six-team Can-Am circuit, also a Class C league.

The nests of the Australian riflebird are decorated with discarded snakeskins.

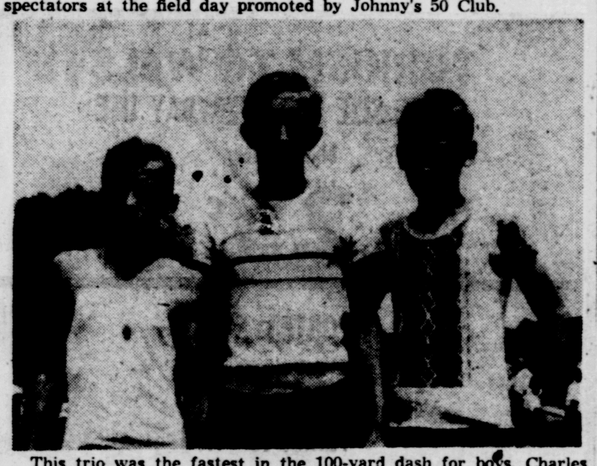
July 4 Winners at Block Park

Karyn Ann Albright, center, won the pearl necklace donated by Capt. Edward (Yank) Albrecht of Cornell fire station. Runners-up were Gail Tiano, left, and Linda Catherine Fisher. Decision was by applause from the spectators at the field day promoted by Johnny's 50 Club.



This trio was the fastest in the 100-yard dash for boys, Charles Diers, Jack Houghtaling and George Hamilton.

These girls came in first, second and third in the 100-yard dash for girls, Betty Ann Klonowski, Mary Ann Schatzel and Helen Bunt. (Joe Kelly Photos).

Can-Am Roundup

(By The Associated Press)

The Gloversville Glovers topped the standings for the second half of the Canadian-American League's split schedule after rain had hit hard at holiday doubleheaders.

Only two of the six scheduled games were played yesterday.

The Glovers defeated the visiting Amsterdam Rugmakers, 4-3, in a tilt called at the end of five innings because of rain, and the Pittsfield Electrics beat the Kingston Colonials, 8-6.

Rained out were the Oneonta-at-Rome afternoon game, the Rome-at-Oneonta night meeting, and the second Gloversville-Amsterdam and Pittsfield-at-Kingston contests.

The second half of the league's split schedule started Tuesday. The Oneonta Red Sox finished the first half a half game ahead of the Electrics.

The winner of the second half will play Oneonta a single game for the pennant.

In the second-half standings, the Glovers has won one and lost none. Kingston and Pittsfield each have won one and lost one. Rome dropped one, and Amsterdam has lost two.

On Tuesday, Oneonta shut out Pittsfield, 1-0, on righthander Paul Aylward's four-hitter; Kingston beat Amsterdam 11-10, and Gloversville edged Rome, 4-3.

Gloversville topped Amsterdam yesterday with a three-run explosion in the fourth on three walks, a sinble and Bob Carlson's double. At Kingston, Charles Ruddock, Pittsfield shortstop, banged a homer in the first with one aboard.

In Repeat Show

Wimbledon, England, July 5 (AP)—Dick Savitt of South Orange, N. J., and Ken McGregor, the Australian Davis Cupper with the big service, will give a repeat performance tomorrow (Friday) in the final of the All-England tennis championship. Sun-bronzed Dick and tall, curly-haired McGregor, fought their way through to the final of the Australian championship last winter. Savitt, the former Cornell University captain, won it in four sets. Now the pair come face to face again in the second of the Big Three of world amateur tennis tournaments. Australia, Wimbledon and the U. S. championships form the grand slam.

Santa Barbara, Calif. — The Rev. Bob Richards of the Illinois A. C. won the 1951 National AAU Decathlon Championship.

Talbert Debuts, Wins

Cincinnati, July 5 (AP)—The Fourth of July produced little or no fireworks at the annual Tri-state tennis tournament—at least as far as upsets were concerned. The seeded players yesterday continued their march toward the stage at which they'll have to begin playing each other. Most of the competition centered in the men's and women's doubles. High spot of the few singles matches was the first appearance of top-seeded Billy Talbert of New York. Talbert polished off Jerry Gilbert, of Dayton, O., 6-1, 6-1, to catch up with the rest of the field.

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

If Brooklyn and the Chicago White Sox fail to win the pennant, chalk one up against tradition.

Baseball history discloses the team in first place after games of fourth of July walks off with the flag about two thirds of the time.

Both leagues show the same figures. Since the turn of the century, the Independence Day leaders in the National and American Leagues won in 33 of the 50 campaigns.

The White Sox joined the Dodgers as July 4 leaders yesterday by splitting a double header in Detroit while Washington's Senators stunned the Yankees with a sweep of their twin bill in New York.

Chicago won the second game, 5-1 after losing a 6-3 opener to wrest first place in the American from the Yankess by a half game. New York dropped 9-6 and 6-5 decisions.

Brooklyn increased its first place margin in the National to six and a half games over New York, thumping the Giants twice, 6-5 in 11 innings and 4-2.

Boston's third place Red Sox climbed to within two and a half games of the American League lead, winning two in Philadelphia, 9-0 and 9-5. Cleveland helped tighten the race even more by sweeping a pair in St. Louis, 6-5 and 4-3 in a 15-inning marathon.

The St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Cubs in Chicago, 10-5. The second game of the scheduled double header was rained out. Philadelphia moved into fourth place past Cincinnati by rapping the Braves in Boston twice, 4-1 and 3-1.

Pittsburgh moved to within three games of seventh place with a pair of wins against Cincinnati, 4-1 and 16-4.

It took some fine bounce back baseball for the Dodgers to win yesterday's opener. They trailed 4-0 going into the eighth. Homers by Roy Campanella and Pee Wee Reese made it 4-3. Gil Hodges' single tied it 4-4 in the ninth and chased Sal Maglie.

Bobby Thomson slammed his fourth homer in as many games in the top of the 11th off Preacher Roe to give the Giants a 5-4 lead. But a double by Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson's single tied the score in the Dodger's half. An error and Roe's squeeze bunt enabled Robinson to cross the plate with the winning run. Carl Erskine's two-run single gave the Dodgers a sweep.

Veteran Joe Dobson pitched the White Sox into first place with a nine-hit victory over the Tigers. He needed help, however, from Marv Rotblatt. Al Zarilla's two-run homer featured a four-run first inning blast against Dizzy Trout. Detroit's Hal Newhouser, aided by Hoot Evers' three-run homer, outpitched Randy Gumpert in the opener.

Gil Coan hammered two three-run homers off Vic Raschi and Joe Ostrowski to lead the Senators to their first game win. Superb relief pitching by Mickey Harris enabled the Nats to make the sweep. Harris scored the winning run himself, doubling in the sixth and crossing the plate on Coan's single.

Maurice McDermott hurled a four-hitter as the Red Sox collected 14 off three Philadelphia hurlers to shut out the A's in the opener. The Sox made it nine in a row over Philadelphia, kayoing Carl Scheib with a six-run sixth inning in the nightcap.

Bob Avila drove in the winning run in each Cleveland victory over the Browns. His eighth inning single drove in two mates in the first game and his single in the 15th gave relief pitcher Mike Garcia his ninth win.

Ralph Kiner blasted homers No. 18 and 19—one with the bases loaded and the other with two on—to spark the Pirates to their win.

The doubleheader was played under Red manager Luke Sewell's protest that Kiner was playing while under suspension for "pushing and shoving" umpire Jocko Conlan in Tuesday's game with the Chicago Cubs. Word of Kiner's three-day suspension was not received until the game had been under way. President Ford Frick said it would be effective as of today.

Six-hit pitching by aces Robin Roberts and Bubba Church gave the Phils their double win over the Braves.

Westrum Day Set For August 12 At Polo Grounds

Wes Westrum, star catcher for the New York Giants of the National League, will be honored by Hudson valley fans at the Polo Grounds Sunday afternoon, Aug. 1, when the Giants clash with the Philadelphia Phillies.

It is expected that many Kingston fans will be in the stands to assist in the day's ceremonies for the popular catcher. Westrum played semi-pro ball in Kingston several years ago.

The celebration is being promoted by a group of prominent Poughkeepsie citizens, headed by Charles T. Overdorf. Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery is honorary chairman.

A 20-minute ceremony will be held before the game, at which time the Poughkeepsie resident will be honored for his standout performance with the Giants squad.

Reserved seat tickets are now being distributed by William J. Lavery, chairman of the ticket committee. The management of the Giants has reserved seats for the Westrum day fans in the area surrounding the home team dugout. The seats are on sale for $2.50. Of this amount, 50 cents will go to the fund.

The seats may be purchased from Lavery at the First National Bank, Main street, Poughkeepsie, or may be ordered by mail. Tickets ordered will be sent out by registered mail.

Two-Run First Decides Outcome For Ressiguie

Motormen Moundsman Tosses 5-Hitter

Lou Ressiguie, now established as the meal ticket for Wiltwyck Motors, was called upon to keep his club in contention for first place honors in the City League Tuesday night and he responded with a neat five-hitter for a 2-0 win over Old Capital Motors at the Athletic Field.

There was no action in the twilight circuit Wednesday due to the Independence Day holiday.

Tonight, Morgan Merchants, still seeking victory No. 1, will tangle with Boulevard Gulf.

As a result of Tuesday's game, the Wiltwycks moved into a first place tie with Chez Emile. Both clubs have won six in seven starts.

Wiltwycks hopped on Burdette Whittaker in the first inning for their two runs and from then on Whittaker and Ressiguie pitched shutout ball.

The first four batters for Wiltwycks decided the outcome of the game.

After Augie Passante doubled to left to get the proceedings underway, Johnny Minadeo was hit by a pitch. Roberts' single drove in Passante and Tropani, the fourth batter, slashed another single to drive in Minadeo with the second tally and the ball game.

Old Capitals, meanwhile, had a couple of good scoring opportunities but on each threat Ressiguie was up to the occasion.

Blow Chances

The Caps left two stranded in both the fifth and sixth innings. Again in the seventh, after Ressiguie struck out Davis, Bill Jackson lined out his third hit and galloped to third on a throwing error by Kite. Again the Wiltwyck moundsman settled down and retired the next two batters on strikes.

Wiltwycks, on the otherhand, left five runners on the base paths in the last three innings:

Messinger's Memos: Both clubs played heads up ball, with Bill Jackson and Jim Roberts making great running catches in the outfield. . . . Augie Passante is creeping up on the batting leaders and is playing his third base post in great style. He is a sure bet for all-league third base honors. . . . Wiltwyck Motors have now won six and Ressiguie is their only pitcher with two wins, both against Old Capitals. . . . A big league meeting will be held Friday at 7:30 p. m. at the YMCA. The future of the league for the 1951 campaign rests on the parley. All interested persons are invited.

Pressure on Stranahan

Portrush, Northern Ireland, July 5 (AP)—The pressure was on Frank Stranahan today. The big Toledo, O., muscleman knew he had to shoot a sub-par round to stay in the running for the British Open golf championship. One more bad round, and the leaders will be too far away for him to catch in the final 36-hole grind over the treacherous Portrush course Friday.

Batting—Gil Coan, Senators—hammered two three-run homers in the first game and singled in the winning run in the nightcap as the Senators swept a doubleheader from the New York Yankees, 9-6 and 6-5.

Pitching—Maurice McDermott, Red Sox—hurled a four-hitter as the Red Sox shut out the Athletics, 9-0, in the first game of a doubleheader.

Wiltwycks Edge Caps, 2-0; Move Into First Place Tie

THE SCOREBOARD

(By The Associated Press)

If Brooklyn and the Chicago White Sox fail to win the pennant, chalk one up against tradition.

Baseball history discloses the team in first place after games of fourth of July walks off with the flag about two thirds of the time.

Both leagues show the same figures. Since the turn of the century, the Independence Day leaders in the National and American Leagues won in 33 of the 50 campaigns.

The White Sox joined the Dodgers as July 4 leaders yesterday by splitting a double header in Detroit while Washington's Senators stunned the Yankees with a sweep of their twin bill in New York.

Chicago won the second game, 5-1 after losing a 6-3 opener to wrest first place in the American from the Yankess by a half game. New York dropped 9-6 and 6-5 decisions.

Brooklyn increased its first place margin in the National to six and a half games over New York, thumping the Giants twice, 6-5 in 11 innings and 4-2.

Boston's third place Red Sox climbed to within two and a half games of the American League lead, winning two in Philadelphia, 9-0 and 9-5. Cleveland helped tighten the race even more by sweeping a pair in St. Louis, 6-5 and 4-3 in a 15-inning marathon.

The St. Louis Cardinals whipped the Cubs in Chicago, 10-5. The second game of the scheduled double header was rained out. Philadelphia moved into fourth place past Cincinnati by rapping the Braves in Boston twice, 4-1 and 3-1.

Pittsburgh moved to within three games of seventh place with a pair of wins against Cincinnati, 4-1 and 16-4.

It took some fine bounce back baseball for the Dodgers to win yesterday's opener. They trailed 4-0 going into the eighth. Homers by Roy Campanella and Pee Wee Reese made it 4-3. Gil Hodges' single tied it 4-4 in the ninth and chased Sal Maglie.

Bobby Thomson slammed his fourth homer in as many games in the top of the 11th off Preacher Roe to give the Giants a 5-4 lead. But a double by Duke Snider and Jackie Robinson's single tied the score in the Dodger's half. An error and Roe's squeeze bunt enabled Robinson to cross the plate with the winning run. Carl Erskine's two-run single gave the Dodgers a sweep.

Veteran Joe Dobson pitched the White Sox into first place with a nine-hit victory over the Tigers. He needed help, however, from Marv Rotblatt. Al Zarilla's two-run homer featured a four-run first inning blast against Dizzy Trout. Detroit's Hal Newhouser, aided by Hoot Evers' three-run homer, outpitched Randy Gumpert in the opener.

Gil Coan hammered two three-run homers off Vic Raschi and Joe Ostrowski to lead the Senators to their first game win. Superb relief pitching by Mickey Harris enabled the Nats to make the sweep. Harris scored the winning run himself, doubling in the sixth and crossing the plate on Coan's single.

Maurice McDermott hurled a four-hitter as the Red Sox collected 14 off three Philadelphia hurlers to shut out the A's in the opener. The Sox made it nine in a row over Philadelphia, kayoing Carl Scheib with a six-run sixth inning in the nightcap.

Bob Avila drove in the winning run in each Cleveland victory over the Browns. His eighth inning single drove in two mates in the first game and his single in the 15th gave relief pitcher Mike Garcia his ninth win.

Ralph Kiner blasted homers No. 18 and 19—one with the bases loaded and the other with two on—to spark the Pirates to their win.

The doubleheader was played under Red manager Luke Sewell's protest that Kiner was playing while under suspension for "pushing and shoving" umpire Jocko Conlan in Tuesday's game with the Chicago Cubs. Word of Kiner's three-day suspension was not received until the game had been under way. President Ford Frick said it would be effective as of today.

Six-hit pitching by aces Robin Roberts and Bubba Church gave the Phils their double win over the Braves.

Westrum Day Set For August 12 At Polo Grounds

Wes Westrum, star catcher for the New York Giants of the National League, will be honored by Hudson valley fans at the Polo Grounds Sunday afternoon, Aug. 1, when the Giants clash with the Philadelphia Phillies.

It is expected that many Kingston fans will be in the stands to assist in the day's ceremonies for the popular catcher. Westrum played semi-pro ball in Kingston several years ago.

The celebration is being promoted by a group of prominent Poughkeepsie citizens, headed by Charles T. Overdorf. Supreme Court Justice J. Gordon Flannery is honorary chairman.

A 20-minute ceremony will be held before the game, at which time the Poughkeepsie resident will be honored for his standout performance with the Giants squad.

Reserved seat tickets are now being distributed by William J. Lavery, chairman of the ticket committee. The management of the Giants has reserved seats for the Westrum day fans in the area surrounding the home team dugout. The seats are on sale for $2.50. Of this amount, 50 cents will go to the fund.

The seats may be purchased from Lavery at the First National Bank, Main street, Poughkeepsie, or may be ordered by mail. Tickets ordered will be sent out by registered mail.

Two-Run First Decides Outcome For Ressiguie

Motormen Moundsman Tosses 5-Hitter

Lou Ressiguie, now established as the meal ticket for Wiltwyck Motors, was called upon to keep his club in contention for first place honors in the City League Tuesday night and he responded with a neat five-hitter for a 2-0 win over Old Capital Motors at the Athletic Field.

There was no action in the twilight circuit Wednesday due to the Independence Day holiday.

Yanks Trip Red Sox In Little Loop, 7-4

Semilof Stops Losers' Rally in Third

Overcoming a 4-1 deficit, the Yankees moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Little League Tuesday night with a 7 to 4 victory over the Red Sox at St. Mary's Field. It was the Yanks' second win in as many starts.

The Red Sox went ahead with four runs in the bottom half of the second and nearly tore up the pea patch with a rally in the third but thanks to a neat bit of relief hurling by Seymour Semilof, the Yanks still trailed by 4-1.

Two runs by the Yanks closed the gap to 4-3 in the fourth. A single tally in the sixth and a cluster of three in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the ball game.

Before Semilof came on in the third frame the Red Sox had the bases loaded with no outs. He proceeded to fan Jack Niles, Frank Weishaupt and Johnny Woods to end the big threat.

Gene Nagele, Tony Turck and Semilof each picked up a pair of hits for the Yankees. Bill Cragan and Jim Cullum also stroked a brace of bingles for the losing nine.

Re-Scheduled Games

According to Jake Chichelsky, secretary of the Little League, the following make-up games have ben scheduled:

July 11, Dodgers vs. Giants; July 18, Yanks vs. Red Sox; July 21, Giants vs. Yanks.

Little League Notes — Glenn Newell, of the Dodgers, had a no-hitter going for four innings in the Dodgers' 10 to 4 triumph over the Giants Monday night. Joe Hoffman ruined his bid with a bunt single about 10 feet down the third base line. . . . Game time for Monday's battle was one hour and 30 minutes, the fastest game of the young season. . . . Newell fanned the Giants in the second. . . . Attendance continues to be good at the games and the Little League seems to have made its presence felt in the city.

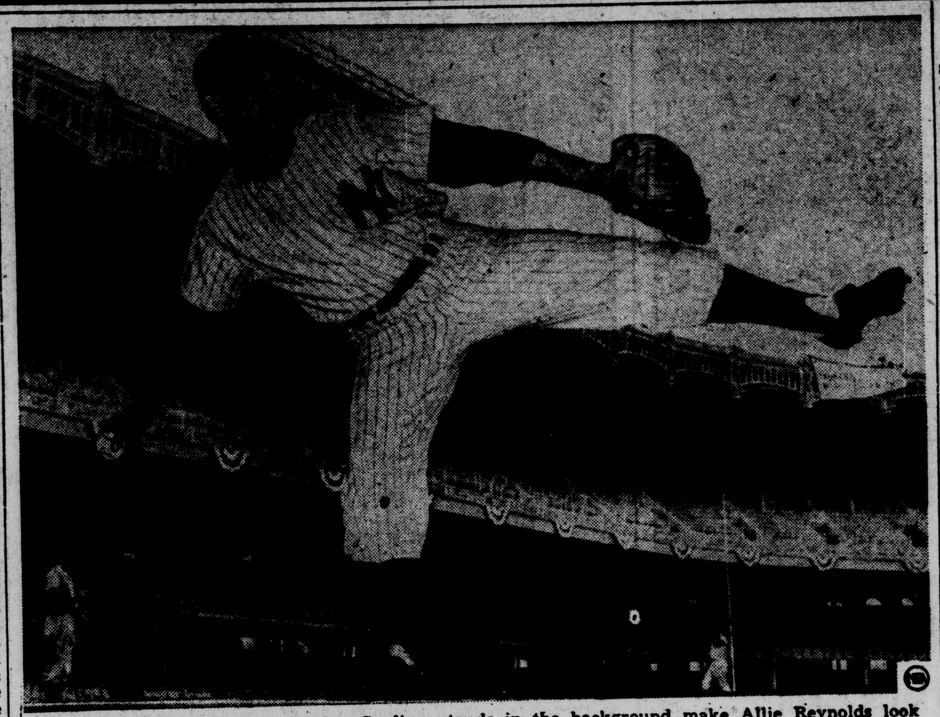
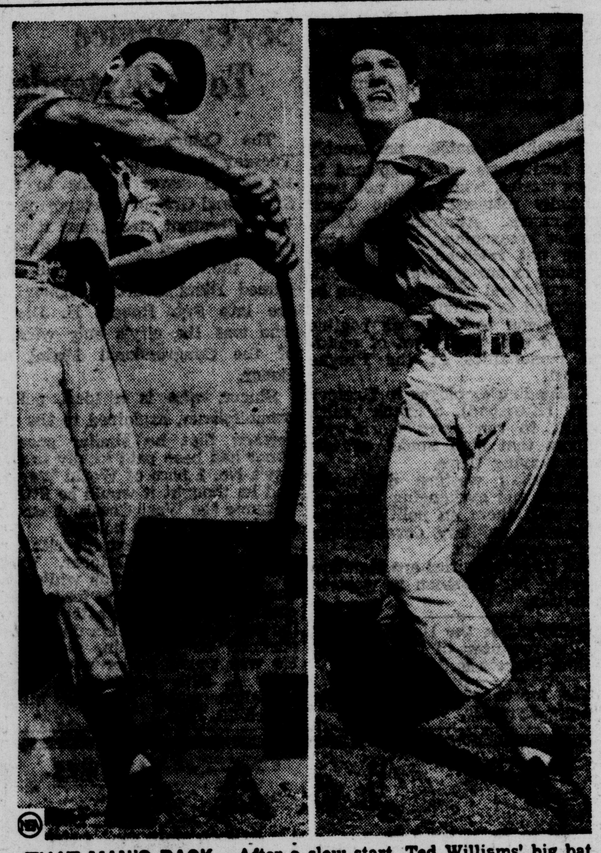
Lord Inverchapel Dies

Greenock, Scotland, July 5 (AP)—Lord Inverchapel, former British ambassador to Washington, died here today. Inverchapel, also served as ambassador to Russia and to China during his diplomatic career.



BIG BOY—If you think the Yankee Stadium stands in the background make Allie Reynolds look large, you don't know the half of it. Wahoo looks bigger than this to batters. The Cherokee's string of scoreless innings had baseball writers rushing for record books. (NEA)



THAT MAN'S BACK—After a slow start, Ted Williams' big bat again is bending under the force of his beautiful swing. The Red Sox slugger raised his batting average 46 points in one four-game series, once more tops the American League in home runs and runs-batted-in. (NEA)

Ford Will Pitch In Poughkeepsie

Ed "Whitey" Ford, sensational hurler for the New York Yankees last season, will face the powerful Poughkeepsie Elks club nine Sunday at 8:30 p. m., under the lights at Riverview Field in the Bridge City.

Ford, now in the army and stationed at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., will be in the uniform of the Creedmore (L.I.) State Hospital team for Sunday's encounter. The invaders have posted a record of 28 victories in 36 games during the last three seasons.

Summoned from Kansas City last July, Ford won nine games for the Bronx Bombers and he pitched the final game of the World Series, blanking the Phillies until the ninth frame when a dropped fly ball shattered the shutout.

The Elks have a strong club, having won six of their seven starts. Featured are Mickey Witek, former New York Giant star; Emil Moscowitz, flinger in the Class B Colonial league last season; Billy "The Kid" Ostrom, one of Poughkeepsie's diamond immortals; and Fran Whalen, fleet-footed outfielder who starred under Manager Eddie Sawyer with the Phillies' farm club at Utica in the Eastern League.

Betsy Volo and Mahlon Hanover Rated Top Threats in Hambletonian Stakes

$90,000 Classic Set August 8

Goshen, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—W. N. Reynolds, who produces tobacco and harness horses from North Carolina, has a pretty solid contender for the 1951 Hambletonian Stake, old timers around Goshen were ready to agree today.

She is Betsy Volo, a flying bay three-year-old daughter of Volstadt-Betsy Babcock. Betsy Volo captured the $17,911 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks as historic half-mile track opened its five-day grand circuit this week. She did it easily, in two straight heats.

Betsy Volo's job was made easy, as her principal rival in the field of 12 fillies—Scotch Rhythm—broke stride in both heats and finished far back and out of the money.

Unlike the Kentucky Derby and other big running classics, the fillies have had a lot to say about the Hambletonian in the 25 times the harness derby has been raced. Eight of the glamour gals have taken the famous stake, which will be renewed at Goshen's Good Time Park mile track Aug. 8 for a $90,000 purse.

Among the eight was Mary Reynolds, which copped the rich prize for Reynolds, from Winston-Salem, N. C., in 1933. The last filly to win it was Miss Tilly, two years ago.

Del Miller, the Meadow Lands, Pa., reinsman who won the 1950 Hambletonian with Lusty Song, drives and trains Betsy Volo.

"I think we'll get some of the big Hambletonian purse," he said. "Betsy Volo is a very fast filly, and has better manners than she showed at times last year.

"The main opposition in the Hambletonian as I see it is Scotch Rhythm and Mighty Fine. Then there is Mahlon Hanover."

Miller drove Mighty Fine for the Hayes Fair Acre Stable last year, and the colt won $52,838, more than any two-year-old harness horse in history.

Mighty Fine, Mahlon Hanover, owned by the W. C. Evans, Rockville Centre, N. Y.; Ralph H. Kroening's Mainliner, Milwaukee; Bernie Hanover, Cleo A. Young, Timmonsville, S. C.; Watcha, Charles M. Provost, Pittsburgh; and True Boy, W. H. Foster, Marion, Ohio, are among the colts expected to show their Hambletonian wares.

"I think we've got a good chance in the Hambletonian," said Ralph Baldwin, driver of Scotch Rhythm. He couldn't explain the fact she "jumped" in both heats of the Coaching Club, but said:

"She never did trot too good on a half mile track."

Baldwin said Betsy Volo would be one of the horses to beat next month at Good Time Park, "but I believe Mahlon Hanover probably is the toughest of them all."

Suspension Ordered

New York, July 5 (AP)—Suspension of all sanitation employes engaged in the garbage collection book-of-rules slowdown was ordered today. Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain ordered that they be replaced by provisional employes. He also cancelled all vacations in a measure to keep the streets clean. This will result in the recall to duty of 1,200 men.

Princess Has Cold

London, July 5 (AP)—A cold forced Princess Margaret to cancel today an engagement to visit the royal agricultural show at Cambridge.

Nine Plead Guilty

New York, July 5 (AP)—Nine former college basketball stars today pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in connection with the fixing of basketball games at Madison Square Garden.

Legion Juniors Drill

Tonight at Hasbrouck Park starting at 6:30 o'clock the Legion Juniors will engage in their second practice of the season. Tom Maines has announced that the first cut will be made after Saturday's practice so all interested in trying out are requested to be at tonight's practice.

L'Apache in Lead

San Pedro, Calif., July 5 (AP)—The 72-foot sloop L'Apache, was reported holding her early lead today in the 17th biennial California to Honolulu yacht race. A fleet of 27 trim sailing craft started at noon yesterday in the 225 mile classic which was won last time by R. S. Rheem's 97-foot schooner from San Francisco, the Morning Star.

Yanks Trip Red Sox In Little Loop, 7-4

Semilof Stops Losers' Rally in Third

Overcoming a 4-1 deficit, the Yankees moved into undisputed possession of first place in the Little League Tuesday night with a 7 to 4 victory over the Red Sox at St. Mary's Field. It was the Yanks' second win in as many starts.

The Red Sox went ahead with four runs in the bottom half of the second and nearly tore up the pea patch with a rally in the third but thanks to a neat bit of relief hurling by Seymour Semilof, the Yanks still trailed by 4-1.

Two runs by the Yanks closed the gap to 4-3 in the fourth. A single tally in the sixth and a cluster of three in the seventh inning gave the Yankees the ball game.

Before Semilof came on in the third frame the Red Sox had the bases loaded with no outs. He proceeded to fan Jack Niles, Frank Weishaupt and Johnny Woods to end the big threat.

Gene Nagele, Tony Turck and Semilof each picked up a pair of hits for the Yankees. Bill Cragan and Jim Cullum also stroked a brace of bingles for the losing nine.

Re-Scheduled Games

According to Jake Chichelsky, secretary of the Little League, the following make-up games have ben scheduled:

July 11, Dodgers vs. Giants; July 18, Yanks vs. Red Sox; July 21, Giants vs. Yanks.

Little League Notes — Glenn Newell, of the Dodgers, had a no-hitter going for four innings in the Dodgers' 10 to 4 triumph over the Giants Monday night. Joe Hoffman ruined his bid with a bunt single about 10 feet down the third base line. . . . Game time for Monday's battle was one hour and 30 minutes, the fastest game of the young season. . . . Newell fanned the Giants in the second. . . . Attendance continues to be good at the games and the Little League seems to have made its presence felt in the city.

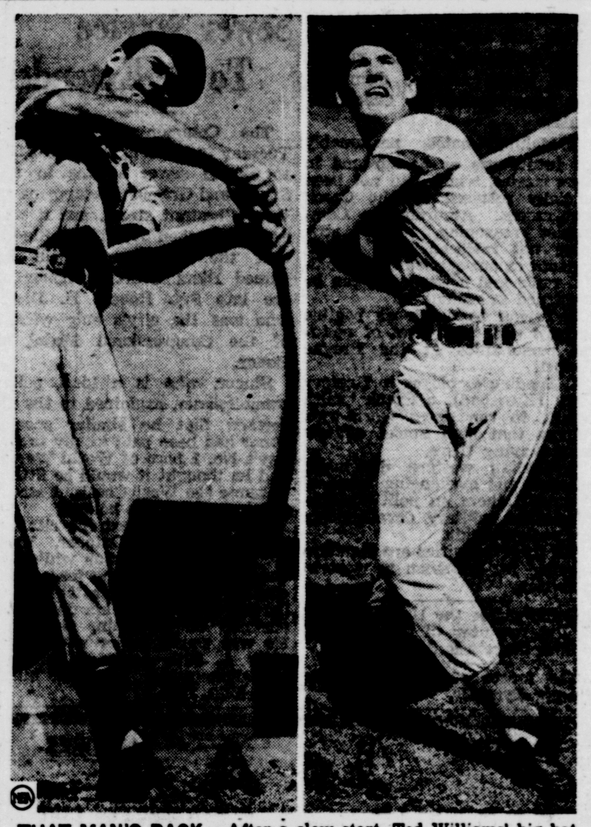
BIG BOY—If you think the Yankee Stadium stands in the background make Allie Reynolds look large, you don't know the half of it. Wahoo looks bigger than this to batters. The Cherokee's string of scoreless innings had baseball writers rushing for record books. (NEA)



THAT MAN'S BACK—After a slow start, Ted Williams' big bat again is bending under the force of his beautiful swing. The Red Sox slugger raised his batting average 46 points in one four-game series, once more tops the American League in home runs and runs-batted-in. (NEA)

Betsy Volo and Mahlon Hanover Rated Top Threats in Hambletonian Stakes

$90,000 Classic Set August 8

Goshen, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—W. N. Reynolds, who produces tobacco and harness horses from North Carolina, has a pretty solid contender for the 1951 Hambletonian Stake, old timers around Goshen were ready to agree today.

She is Betsy Volo, a flying bay three-year-old daughter of Volstadt-Betsy Babcock. Betsy Volo captured the $17,911 Coaching Club Trotting Oaks as historic half-mile track opened its five-day grand circuit this week. She did it easily, in two straight heats.

Betsy Volo's job was made easy, as her principal rival in the field of 12 fillies—Scotch Rhythm—broke stride in both heats and finished far back and out of the money.

Unlike the Kentucky Derby and other big running classics, the fillies have had a lot to say about the Hambletonian in the 25 times the harness derby has been raced. Eight of the glamour gals have taken the famous stake, which will be renewed at Goshen's Good Time Park mile track Aug. 8 for a $90,000 purse.

Among the eight was Mary Reynolds, which copped the rich prize for Reynolds, from Winston-Salem, N. C., in 1933. The last filly to win it was Miss Tilly, two years ago.

Del Miller, the Meadow Lands, Pa., reinsman who won the 1950 Hambletonian with Lusty Song, drives and trains Betsy Volo.

"I think we'll get some of the big Hambletonian purse," he said. "Betsy Volo is a very fast filly, and has better manners than she showed at times last year.

"The main opposition in the Hambletonian as I see it is Scotch Rhythm and Mighty Fine. Then there is Mahlon Hanover."

Miller drove Mighty Fine for the Hayes Fair Acre Stable last year, and the colt won $52,838, more than any two-year-old harness horse in history.

Mighty Fine, Mahlon Hanover, owned by the W. C. Evans, Rockville Centre, N. Y.; Ralph H. Kroening's Mainliner, Milwaukee; Bernie Hanover, Cleo A. Young, Timmonsville, S. C.; Watcha, Charles M. Provost, Pittsburgh; and True Boy, W. H. Foster, Marion, Ohio, are among the colts expected to show their Hambletonian wares.

"I think we've got a good chance in the Hambletonian," said Ralph Baldwin, driver of Scotch Rhythm. He couldn't explain the fact she "jumped" in both heats of the Coaching Club, but said:

"She never did trot too good on a half mile track."

Baldwin said Betsy Volo would be one of the horses to beat next month at Good Time Park, "but I believe Mahlon Hanover probably is the toughest of them all."

Suspension Ordered

New York, July 5 (AP)—Suspension of all sanitation employes engaged in the garbage collection book-of-rules slowdown was ordered today. Sanitation Commissioner Andrew W. Mulrain ordered that they be replaced by provisional employes. He also cancelled all vacations in a measure to keep the streets clean. This will result in the recall to duty of 1,200 men.

Princess Has Cold

Nine Plead Guilty

New York, July 5 (AP)—Nine former college basketball stars today pleaded guilty to conspiracy charges in connection with the fixing of basketball games at Madison Square Garden.

Ford Will Pitch In Poughkeepsie

Ed "Whitey" Ford, sensational hurler for the New York Yankees last season, will face the powerful Poughkeepsie Elks club nine Sunday at 8:30 p. m., under the lights at Riverview Field in the Bridge City.

Ford, now in the army and stationed at Ft. Monmouth, N. J., will be in the uniform of the Creedmore (L.I.) State Hospital team for Sunday's encounter. The invaders have posted a record of 28 victories in 36 games during the last three seasons.

Summoned from Kansas City last July, Ford won nine games for the Bronx Bombers and he pitched the final game of the World Series, blanking the Phillies until the ninth frame when a dropped fly ball shattered the shutout.

The Elks have a strong club, having won six of their seven starts. Featured are Mickey Witek, former New York Giant star; Emil Moscowitz, flinger in the Class B Colonial league last season; Billy "The Kid" Ostrom, one of Poughkeepsie's diamond immortals; and Fran Whalen, fleet-footed outfielder who starred under Manager Eddie Sawyer with the Phillies' farm club at Utica in the Eastern League.

A record crowd is expected for the star-studded clash.

Hudson, N. Y., July 5 (AP)—Seventeen young women who ran away from the State Training School for Girls here Tuesday had a brief holiday. A school spokesman reported today that "all the girls are back." They fled through the school's main gate, which was not locked. Six were picked up almost immediately. The spokesman would not say where or when the others were found. Escapes from the school are not uncommon, and generally are not reported to police.

Oatis Gets . . .

It is presumed that the press of the free world will so view this turning back of the clock.

The Associated Press, which has had an arrangement for exchange of news with the Czech news agency, terminated the pact yesterday.

Part of Propaganda

The State Department said the spy charges leveled against Oatis were "part of a propaganda performance against the United States." It added:

"The arrest, the detention for months without access to friend, embassy representative or trusted legal counsel, the forced 'confession' to fabricated charges, the shabby 'conviction' of William N. Oatis show that the present regime in Czechoslovakia fears truth, hates liberty and knows no justice.

Rep. Kersten (R-Wis.) condemned Oatis' trial and punishment in a resolution he introduced in the U. S. House of Representatives yesterday.

The President of the American Society of Newspaper Editors, Executive Editor Alexander F. Jones of the Syracuse, N. Y., Herald-Journal, in a statement on the Oatis trial called for "better protection of American newspapermen from our own government in countries with whom we have diplomatic relations."

Asserting that "the Oatis case should become a cause celebre with every free journalist," Jones said Oatis had "confessed to nothing except that he is an American newspaperman attempting to carry on the normal duties of his occupation."

Relief Is Expressed

In St. Paul, Minn., Oatis' wife expressed relief "that the trial is over and the result is known."

"The past two and a half months of waiting have been quite a strain," she said. "I'm looking forward now to the day when William is released and can return to this country."

Oatis' answers to questions at his trial and the testimony of other witnesses indicated his "espionage" activity consisted of:

1. Receiving messages from AP bureaus in London and New York asking him to check reports already published in the outside world about arrests, dismissals and other events in Czechoslovakia.

2. Making notes, presumably for future use as background in news stories, which had not been officially released by the Czech government. According to Communist reasoning, nearly anything not released in a official handout or not carried by the official radio and newspapers, can be construed as espionage.

3. Trying to check on routine arrivals and departures of political personalties at the Prague airport.

4. Sending employes to Karlovy Vary (Karlsbad), a Czech health resort, to run down world-wide rumors that high Soviet officials were staying there.

5. Visiting western diplomatic missions and exchanging information with them on political, economic and military developments in Czechoslovakia.

The motto of Virginia is Sic Semper Tyrranis.

Sewer Service To Be Extended

The Common Council voted Tuesday to make available $15,000 to extend sewer service to the Singer and Greene development on West Chestnut street, and it was announced then by William Singer that the development will be named Dietz Court in honor of the late Sgt. Robert H. Dietz, who was the city's only winner of the Congressional Medal of Honor.

Singer, who is a local police commissioner, explained to the aldermen that no similar special honor had been paid locally to the city's No. 1 hero of World War 2, and he thought it would be fitting to name the West Chestnut street development in his honor.

Sgt. Dietz received the citation posthumously in October, 1948. He was killed in action while advancing against enemy forces and causing more damage after knocking out a bazooka team during an advance on Kirchain, Germany. He was squad leader with Company A, 38th Armored Infantry Battalion when he was killed March 29, 1945.
